PARTY LINES ARE WIPE OUT WITH SENATE DEADLOCK

Leaders Declare Only President Himself Can Bring Order

SPLIT INTO FACTIONS

Debate on Treaty Still Holds Sway On Senate Floor.

Washington, March 4.—The anniversary of President Wilson's second inauguration today found party lines wiped out in the senate by the deadlock on the peace treaty which Democratic and Republican leaders alike declared only the president himself could break.

Democratic and Republican senators were split in factions irrespective of their political affiliations by the conflict of opinion regarding the Lodge reservations.

One group of Democrats and Republicans favoring ratification and opposed to the treaty being made a campaign issue was still engaged in seeking a compromise on the long disputed Lodge reservation to article 10, of the league of nations covenant.

Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, one of the "mild reservationists," was at work rewriting the reservation in the hope of finding some way of extricating the senate from the apparently hopeless jam in which it is caught.

A conference was scheduled between Kellogg and other "mild reservationists" with a number of the Democratic senators who are not in accord with the president's desire to inject the treaty into the campaign.

Little hope was held out, however, by Democratic and Republican leaders, that the conference would prevent ratification from being blocked for the second time.

The situation found Republicans arrayed against Republicans and Democrats pitted against Democrats, a situation which it was freely predicted would continue to give party leaders outside the senate much to think about during the campaign.

Debate on the treaty is to continue today with the sixth Lodge reservation, that involving the Shantung dispute still before the senate.

CHICAGO POLICE USE TECHNICALITY

Columbus, O., March 4.—Taking advantage of a technicality, Chicago police officers here obtained possession of Mrs. Margaret Prevey of Akron, who will be tried in Chicago for alleged "red" activities.

When common pleas Judge Kinkadee, acting upon her appeal, from Gov. Cox's action authorizing her return to Chicago, ruled that Mrs. Prevey be held 48 hours in the county jail here for Illinois officers or until her attorneys could appeal to the appellate court, she was taken back to jail.

While her counsel was making out the appeal papers, Mrs. Agnes Walsh, Chicago police woman, asked Sheriff Slack to turn Mrs. Prevey over to her. In accordance with instructions from County Prosecutor Schlessinger, the sheriff did so.

SOVIET ARMY CUTS UP ANTI-BOLSHEVİK

London, March 4.—The soviet army in southern Russia has crossed the Rostov-Georgievsk railway, cutting in two the remnants of Gen. Denikin's anti-Bolshevik army and opening them up for attacks against Persia and the new states of Georgia and Azerbaijan, in Transcaucasia, according to reports from Moscow today.

The soviet describes the latest victory over the Denikin forces as a "knockout blow."

The remains of Gen. Denikin's troops are being forced toward the Caucasus mountains and the soviet claims that its army will inevitably control the Caspian sea.

THINK ENGINEER DIED BEFORE CRASH

Elizabeth, N. J., March 4.—A lifeless hand, officials today believe, drove the "Philadelphia flier" crack Central Railway of New Jersey express, past a danger signal and into a local train near here last night causing four deaths. The engineer, William S. Sell, found dead in his cab, is thought to have died from heart failure prior to the crash. An investigation to determine this is under way now.

Statements by railroad attaches showed a danger signal was set against the flier.

NEW JERSEY CHARGES DRY AMENDMENT IS NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

WILL PROCEED WITH SUIT IN COURT MONDAY

Declares That Necessary Ratification of Three Fourths of States Has Not Been Obtained By Federal Government.

Charges British Discriminated Against U. S. Ship Line.

W. B. Clark, former junior lieutenant in the United States Navy, now an assistant engineer of the steamship Lake Gauthier, of the Lawrence Steamship Company, charges that the British discriminated against the ships of the Lawrence line, flying the American flag. According to Clark, his ship arrived with a cargo at Liverpool and before being permitted to enter the Manchester Canal was forced to alter the masts. Entering the canal they were forced to wait two weeks at Manchester before they could unload their cargo, although at that time numerous British ships arrived, discharged their cargoes, took on another cargo and cleared.

GETS VERDICT OF $1. IN DAMAGE SUIT; SUED BY DEFENDANT

G. J. Smith Gets Award in Case Wednesday.

A verdict in favor of G. J. Smith and $1 damages, was rendered by a jury in the court of Justice J. E. Jones Wednesday in a suit brought against him by Charles Brill of the Valley road.

Mr. Brill sued to recover $69.77 for damages to his automobile, with which the Smith car, driven by W. J. Smith, collided when the Brill car was parked on North King street one night last November. A counter claim and suit for damages for $58.88 was brought by Mr. Smith.

The accident according to testimony, occurred when the Smith car, which was travelling north on King street, was passing another machine, travelling south. The night was stormy. Mr. Brill contended that the lights on his machine were burning, but this was denied by occupants of the Smith car.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE CAUSES $1,000 LOSS

Fire of mysterious origin caused a loss amounting to about $1,000 at the home of Frank Hustmyer on West Main street, Wednesday night.

The ames broke out in a ground floor room in the rear of the house, used as a storage room, destroying the room and its contents and damaging other parts of the house by smoke. The fire department was called at 7:30 o'clock.

There was no one in the house at the time and no fires from which the conflagration could have ignited, or which might have caused a spark from the flue. Spontaneous combustion among goods stored in the room is offered as one cause for the fire.

void, Jos. A. Lanigan, assistant attorney general of New Jersey, filed the bill of complaint which was drawn by Attorney General McCran by the authority of Governor Edwards elected on a "wet" platform last November. One of the objects of the suit is to prevent the United States attorney General Palmer and the Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper from enforcing the Volstead act in New Jersey.

Attorney General McCran of New Jersey, will appear in supreme court Monday to proceed with the suit.

New Jersey charges that the eighteenth amendment is null and void for these reasons:

That the 18th amendment is not proper under article V, of the constitution. There is no power in congress to propose an amendment regulating conduct and morals and that article V permits only such amendments as are alterations or additions within the scope of the constitution.

That there is no power in the states to ratify an amendment such as the eighteenth.

That two thirds of the members of both houses "did not deem such an amendment necessary," within the true intent and meaning of article V of the constitution.

That the prohibition contained in the amendment is legislative matter under article I of the constitution and not properly an amendment under article V.

That as legislative matter it was not properly passed by congress and submitted to the president of the United States and is therefore void and of no effect.

That in 21 states, South Dakota, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Oklahoma, Maine, Missouri, Michigan, Arkansas, Colorado, Arizona, California, Ohio, Nebraska, North Dakota, Washington, Mississippi, Utah, Massachusetts, Maryland and New Mexico, the legislatures have not ratified as provided by the constitution of such states, and that therefore the three fourths of the states have not ratified in the constitutional sense.

ACCUSES PREMIER OF DANGEROUS PROPOSAL ON GERMAN TREATY

French Editor Scores Italian In Stand on Concessions.

Paris, March 4.—Pertinax, political editor of the Echo de Paris, telegraphing from London today, accused Premier Nitti of Italy, with making "dangerous proposals" regarding the German peace treaty and suggesting revisions of the Hungarian treaty.

According to Pertinax, Premier Nitti suggests that the Hungarian terms be changed so that Hungary 3,000,000 magyars that were to be included in territory allotted to Roumania, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Stephen Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, stated in a telegram from London that Premier Nitti had suggested a suspension of virtually the entire elimination of German indemnity, but the proposal was rejected by the other members of the supreme council.

Premier Nitti, according to London advices originated the suggestion that the allies furnish Germany with materials necessary for the normal functioning of German industry, in the meantime authorizing Germany to negotiate a loan in neutral countries.

Pertinax raises a new point by asking whether the proposed German loan would be used by the inter-allied reparations commission and controlled by it.

CITY FIRE TRUCK CATCHES ON FIRE

Captain Charles Mahanna sustained painful burns on the hands and the new White triple combination fire truck recently purchased by the city slightly damaged, when the truck caught on fire while standing in the fire house Thursday afternoon.

After responding to a fire in the vestibule of a D. & X. traction car at Main and Detroit street at 12:30 a fireman Roy Mendonhall attempted to start the truck and found that a wire was shorted and the carburetor flooded.

He called Captain Mahanna, who opened the carburetor and attempted to crank the machine, a spark igniting the gasoline which blazed up high over the engine, scorching the paint in a small spot on the fender and another on the hood.

Three chemicals and a garden hose were used by the firemen in extinguishing the blaze and Captain Mahanna suffered severely burned hands in battling with the blaze. The truck was not out of use by the fire.

RAILROAD STRIKE HINGES ON RESULT OF CONFERENCE

Shop Laborers Defy Lodge Officers On Strike Proposition.

WHICH INVOLVES 400,000

Men Getting Tired of Unkept Promises Declares Leader.

Chicago, March 4.—On the outcome of a meeting held here today rests a decision whether 400,000 railroad workers of the country will go on strike and seriously interfere with the operation of every railroad system in the country.

Delaying their grand lodge officers, six hundred representatives of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Men and Railway Shop Laborers met to consider whether they would override their chiefs in forcing their demands on the railroads, regardless of a promise made by the union chiefs to President Wilson that no strike would occur.

"The men are growing weary of never kept promises," said William Corbick of the Cotton Belt railroad. "I am holding my men in check with difficulty. Most maintenance of way men get less than $2 a day, making them the least paid of all railroad employees."

Among the officials attending the conference are B. W. Friedenberg, Illinois Central railroad of Indianapolis; C. W. Dickinson, Houston and Texas Central, Houston, Texas; J. J. Carros, international chairman, international and Great Northern railroad, Austin, Texas; L. H. Odom, Texas and Pacific, Dallas, Texas, and J. A. Marquette, of Texas.

SCHMIDT AGREES TO REMOVE AWNING ON STORE AFTER DECREE

"I will remove my awning by Monday. Since the courts have held that it is illegal to maintain it, I shall comply with the law at once."

So said H. E. Schmidt Thursday regarding the decision of the Appellate Court ordering him to remove the awning from in front of his store which has been the bone of contention between the city and Mr. Schmidt for several months.

In the place of the tin awning which extends out over the edge of the sidewalk and is supported by posts implanted in the curbing, Mr. Schmidt will substitute a canvas awning, which will comply with the city ordinance. The ordinance provides that no awning shall extend more than eight feet from the building or less than seven feet above the sidewalk, or have supporting posts in the sidewalk. Mr. Schmidt agreed immediately to comply with this ordinance when he was notified and he expects to have the new awning up Monday.

Early in the controversy between the city and Mr. Schmidt over the now famous awning case, the latter had Architect Mountstephen of Dayton draw a plan of a marquee to be constructed in place of the awning. The size of the marquee however, did not comply with the ordinance and he was not permitted to put it up.

It was his intention at that time, to further beautify the front of his store and light the entrance with electricity.

With the removal of the awning, the object over which a long fight in the courts has been conducted, has finally been adjusted. The sidewalk ordinance case, was won by Mr. Schmidt, and he will continue to display goods on the sidewalk in front of his place of business and under cover of the new awning he will erect.

PREPARE TO PAY EX-KAISER FOR LOSS OF LARGE ESTATES

Would Grant Him Same Wages as Laborers Get.

Berlin, March 3.—(Delayed)—The proposal that the ex-kaiser be reimbursed for the loss of his Prussian estates with a grant of the same wages now paid by the state to unemployed workers was made by Herr Hoffmann, an independent socialist in the debate in the Prussian Diet just before the question of the Hohenzollern estates were submitted to the judiciary committee for a settlement.

The socialists hissed a declaration by a nationalist speaker that "enough should be left to the ex-kaiser so that he could return to the fatherland." But the hisses changed to cheers when William was attacked for causing the war and all Germany's misfortunes.

Minister Suedekum, who had originally suggested a compromise, withdrew from this position when the attacks against the former emperor grew more and more bitter in debate.

POLICE SCANDAL IN NEW YORK PROMISES TO RIVAL BECKER CASE

Bribery and Extortion Charged in Indictment of Members of Force Through Investigation Recently.

GRAFT FROM WOMEN IN STREETS IS ALLEGED

Sensational Developments Follow Revelation of Graft Proceedings in City Police Force and Their "Tools."

New York, March 4.—A police scandal that promises to assume the proportions of the famous Becker case was disclosed here today following the indictment by a grand jury of Detective John J. Gunson, on charges of bribery and extortion.

An investigation of the entire police department is under plain clothes men, two bondsmen, and an attorney are involved in a form of wholesale grafting from women in the streets.

It was announced from the district attorney's office that the investigation is in its infancy and will uncover the worst scandal that has touched the department in years.

Gunson is charged specifically with having accepted $50 from a woman of the streets for promised protection, and also with having extorted money from the same woman by threatening her with arrest unless she "paid up."

The woman, Rebecca Malyado, told James E. Smith, assistant district attorney, that Gunson persuaded her to operate in the upper Broadway "white way" district, and with other detectives, promised her protection. Every morning, she declared, she divided the proceeds with Gunson.

The Malyado girl said she had known Gunson three years, and had given him about $5,000 and many presents, including theater tickets, silk shirts, jewelry and meals.

She said she had lived with him as his "sister" and had acted as "roundup" of other girls who had to "come through" with money for policemen, Rose Gonzales and Estelle Young, two other women of the streets, corroborated her story.

Both the Malyado girl and Rose Gonzales asserted they had many times bought their freedom from the policemen after being arrested, paying as high as $500 for their release.

When the Malyado girl decided to "go straight," she charged, Gunson pursued her and demanded that she follow her old vocation, driving her from positions and forcing her to keep out of the middle town district under Gunson's jurisdiction.

All three women charged that it was often necessary for women of the streets to sell their jewelry and pawn their clothing to meet the "pull off" demands of the police.

"The scandal we have uncovered in the police department would be incredible were it not supported by the strongest evidence," said Smith today. "The probe has just begun and far more sensational charges are being investigated."

EPIDEMIC OF SORE THROAT RAGES IN NEW JASPER TWP.

Caesarcreek and Vicinity Also Affected by Malady.

Glandular fever a peculiar and aggravated form of sore throat, is epidemic in New Jasper and Caesarcreek townships. In the last seven weeks there have been 75 or 100 cases of the malady in those localities, but so far only one fatality, the three-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Haines of New Hope, having died of that trouble Thursday morning.

Dr. R. H. Grube, county health officer, is conducting an investigation of the epidemic.

A peculiarity of the malady is that for the last 15 or 20 years it has been epidemic in the two townships which are now suffering from it, while other parts of the county are virtually free from it. Only isolated cases have been found in this city or other localities.

The malady is characterized by a swelling of the lymphatic glands of the neck, which in aggravated cases, burst, sending the poison through the system, and causing articular rheumatism and other troubles. The malady is not confined to children, who are the chief sufferers, many adults being victims as well.

VESTIBULE ON CAR CATCHES ON FIRE

An overheated controller on the front end of a D. & X. freight car ignited the wood vestibule of the car as it was rounding the corner at Main and Detroit streets at 12:30 Thursday noon.

The flames shot out several feet from the front of the car when it first broke out. Motorman Carl Andrews at once cut off the power and the fire department was called, extinguishing the blaze with the chemicals. The front end controller of the car was disabled by the fire.

PREDICT RADICAL CHANGES IN TRUST BUSTING POLICY

U. S. Steel Case Furnishes Precedent for Many Changed Ways

PROCEED ON HEARINGS

Various Opinions Rife Over Wisdom of Court Decision.

Washington, March 4.—Radical changes in the government's trust busting policy to conform to the supreme court's decision in the United States Steel case have not yet been determined, Attorney General Palmer said today. "Until I have had more time to study the decision, I will be unable to state what effect it may have on pending cases, or the changes it may make necessary in the department's policy," Mr. Palmer said.

A number of big cases, notably the American Sugar Refining case, are expected to be vitally affected by the department's new policy.

Despite the steel case decision, assistant Attorney General Ames, the administration's trust buster, announced, that acting under the attorney general's instructions, he will proceed next week with hearings in the case instituted by the government against the alleged combine of hardwood lumber manufacturers at Memphis, Tenn. Ames has wired federal district attorney Keyser at Memphis to be ready to proceed with the case as originally planned. Opinion here goes both ways. Senator Arthur Casper of Kansas said:

"The decision came as a great surprise to me. While I am no lawyer, I felt the government was right in its contention, or any way that it felt that under the law it was justified in proceeding against the steel trust. There is no doubt but that the steel trust did have a monopoly in the steel industry. The court has said that it cannot be broken up, but I would like to see some action here that would make it possible to break it up."

Senator Thomas, Republican, of Colorado, declared:

"I have not read the decision yet and I don't like to criticize anything blindly. All I can say now is that the decision surprised me."

Senator Harry S. New, Republican, of Indiana, said that he had never doubted the legitimacy of the trust "nor have I ever thought it was anything immoral or damaging to the public interest."

BEGIN WORK OF REMODELING CITY OFFICES THURSDAY

Work of remodeling the city building, in order to take care of the offices of the newly acquired water company, which will require a shift in the offices now used, began Thursday morning.

The work commenced on the Police Court room, which from now on will serve in a dual role, as commission chamber as well as police court. The elevation of the police judge's derrick will be removed, the ceiling plastered, the linoleum taken up and the ceiling, walls and floor, as well as the entire interior of the building repainted.

The present commission chamber will be redecorated and will serve as the private office for the City Auditor and the water works business, as well as private sanctum for the engineering department.

The present auditor's office will be the cashier's office for water works business, the fixtures used in the office of the Xenia Water Company, being installed there.

New signs designating the offices will be painted and the main entrance to the building will be at the west door of the new commission chamber instead of through the auditor's office.

TURKS CREATE A REIGN OF TERROR

London, March 4.—Turkish followers of Kemal Pasha are creating a reign of terror in eastern Thrace, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens today.

(Thrace is the district in the Balkans lying immediately north of the sea of Marmora and the eastern shores of the Aegean sea. Greece has claimed for Thracian territory before the peace conference.)

DECLARE TWO MILLION DOLLAR WILL OF LATE PITTSBURGH WIDOW VOID IN COURT

New York, March 4.—The $2,000,000 will of Mrs. Rosa E. Spang, late widow of a Pittsburgh steel millionaire, was declared void when a surrogate's court jury returned a verdict early today that Mrs. Spang was of unsound mind when she signed the testament. The jury reported at 2:15 o'clock after having been out for more than 12 hours.

Mrs. Spang, who died at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on June 22, 1919, had left the bulk of her estate to found a home for abandoned girls until they could become self supporting. The will was contested by daughter, Mrs. Mabel Crome Ankers of Copenhagen, Denmark, who had been bequeathed only a nominal sum.

PARTY LINES ARE WIPE OUT WITH SENATE DEADLOCK

Leaders Declare Only President Himself Can Bring Order
SPLIT INTO FACTIONS

Debate on Treaty Still Holds Sway on Senate Floor.

Washington, March 4.—The anniversary of President Wilson's second inauguration today found party lines wiped out in the senate by the deadlock on the peace treaty which Democratic and Republican leaders alike declared only the president himself could break.

Democratic and Republican senators were split in factions irrespective of their political affiliations by the conflict of opinion regarding the Lodge reservations.

One group of Democrats and Republicans favoring ratification and opposed to the treaty being made a campaign issue was still engaged in seeking a compromise on the long disputed Lodge reservation to article 10 of the league of nations covenant.

Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, one of the "mild reservationists," was at work rewriting the reservation in the hope of finding some way of extricating the senate from the apparently hopeless jam in which it is caught.

A conference was scheduled between Kellogg and other "mild reservationists" with a number of the Democratic senators who are not in accord with the president's desire to inject the treaty into the campaign.
Little hope was held out, however, by Democratic and Republican leaders, that the conference would prevent ratification from being blocked for the second time.

The situation found Republicans
arrayed against Democrats, and Democrats pitted against Democrats,
a situation which it was freely predicted would continue to give party leaders outside the senate much to think about during the campaign.

Debate on the treaty is to continue
today with the sixth Lodge reservation, that involving the Shantung dispute still before the senate.

CHICAGO POLICE USE TECHNICALITY

Columbus, O., March 4.—Taking advantage of a technicality, Chicago police officers here obtained possession
of Mrs. Margaret Prevey of Akron, who will be tried in Chicago for alleged "red" activities.

When common pleas Judge Kinkead,
acting upon her appeal, from Gov.
Cox's action authorizing her return to Chicago, ruled that Mrs. Prevey be held 48 hours in the county jail here
for Illinois officers or until her attorneys could appeal to the appellate court, she was taken back to jail.

While her counsel was making out
the appeal papers, Mrs. Agnes Walsh,
Chicago police woman, asked Sheriff
Slack to turn Mrs. Prevey over to her.
In accordance with instructions from County Prosecutor Schlesinger, the sheriff did so.

according to reports from Moscow today. The soviet describes the latest

NEW JERSEY CHARGES DRY AMENDMENT IS NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

Files Petition in Supreme Court Requesting That the 18th Amendment Be Set Aside as Null and Void—Reasons For Request.

WILL PROCEED WITH SUIT IN COURT MONDAY

Declares That Necessary Ratification of Three Fourths of States Has Not Been Obtained By Federal Government.

Washington, March 4.—The state of New Jersey filed today in the United States supreme court a bill of complaint asking that the prohibition amendment and the Volstead enforcement act be declared null and void. Jos. A. Lanigan, assistant attorney general of New Jersey, filed the bill of complaint which was drawn by Attorney General McCran by the authority of Governor Edwards elected on a "wet" platform last November. One of the objects of the suit is to prevent the United States attorney general Palmer and the Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper from enforcing the Volstead act in New Jersey.

Attorney General McCran of New Jersey, will appear in supreme court
Monday to proceed with the suit.

New Jersey charges that the eighteenth amendment is null and void for these reasons:
That the 18th amendment is not proper under article V. of the constitution. There is no power in congress to propose an amendment regulating conduct and morals and that article V permits only such amendments as are alterations or additions within the scope of the constitution.

That there is no power in the states to ratify an amendment such as the eighteenth.

That two thirds of the members of both houses "did not deem such an amendment necessary," within the true intent and meaning of article
V of the constitution.

That the prohibition contained in the amendment is legislative matter
under article I of the constitution and not properly an amendment under article V.

That as legislative matter it was not properly passed by congress and submitted to the president of the United States and is therefore void
and of no effect.

That in 21 states, South Dakota,
Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Oklahoma, Maine, Missouri, Michigan, Arkansas, Colorado, Arizona, California, Ohio, Nebraska, North Dakota,
Washington, Mississippi, Utah, Massachusetts, Maryland and New Mexico, the legislatures have not ratified as provided by the constitution of such states, and that therefore the three fourths of the states have not ratified in the constitutional sense.

W. B. Clark, former junior lieutenant in the United States Navy, now an assistant engineer of the steamship
Lake Gauthier, of the Lawrence
Steamship Company, charges that the British discriminated against the ships of the Lawrence line, flying
the American flag. According to Clark, his ship arrived with a cargo at Liverpool and before being permitted to enter the Manchester Canal was forced to alter the masts. Entering the canal they were forced to wait
two weeks at Manchester before they could unload their cargo, although in that time numerous British ships arrived, discharged their cargoes, took on another cargo and cleared.

According to Pertinax, Premier Nitti

 CITY FIRE TRUCK CATCHES ON FIRE *****

Captain Charles Manhanna sustained painful burns on the hands and the new White triple combination fire truck recently purchased by the city slightly damaged, when the truck caught on fire while standing in the fire house Thursday afternoon.

After responding to a fire in the vestibule of a D. & X. traction car at Main and Detroit street at 12:30 a fireman Roy Mendenhall attempted to start the truck and found that a wire was shorted and the carburetor flooded. He call Captain Manhanna, who opened the carburetor and attempted to crank the machine, a spark igniting the gasoline which blazed up high over the engine, scorching the paint in a small spot on the fender and another on the hood.

Three chemicals and a garden hose were used by the firemen in extinguishing the blaze and Captain Ma-hanna suffered severely burned hands in battling with the blaze. The truck was not out of use by the fire.

RAILROAD STRIKE HINGES ON RESULT OF CONFERENCE

Shop Laborers Defy Lodge Officers On Strike Proposition.
WHICH INVOLVES 400,000

Men Getting Tired of Unkept Promises Declares Leader.

Chicago, March 4.—On the outcome of a meeting held here today rests a decision whether 400,000 railroad workers of the country will go on strike and seriously interfere with the operation of every railroad system in the country.

Defying their g and lodge officers, six hundred representatives of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Men and Railway Shop Laborers met to consider whether they would override their chiefs in forcing their demands on the railroads, regardless of a promise made by the union chiefs to President Wilson that no strike would occur.

"The men are growing weary of never kept promises," said William Corbick of the Cotton Belt railroad.
"I am holding my men in check with difficulty. Most maintenance of way men get less than $2 a day, making them the least paid of all railroad employees."

Among the officials attending the conference are B. W. Frieleberg, Illinois Central railroad of Indianapolis; C. W. Dickinson, Haskell and Texas Central, Hemstead, Tex.; T.
J. Carvos, international chairman, international and Great Northern railroad, Austin Texas; L. H. Odom, Texas and Pacific, Dallas, Texas, and J. A. Marquette, of Texas.

That the prohibition contained in
the amendment is legislative matter
under article I of the constitution
and not properly an amendment under article V.

That as legislative matter it was not properly passed by congress and
submitted to the president of the United States and is therefore void
and of no effect.

That in 21 states, South Dakota,
Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Oklahoma, Maine, Missouri, Michigan, Arkansas, Colorado, Arizona, California, Ohio, Nebraska, North Dakota,
Washington, Mississippi, Utah, Massachusetts, Maryland and New Mexico, the legislatures have not ratified
as provided by the constitution of
such states, and that therefore the three fourths of the states have not ratified in the constitutional sense.

W. B. Clark, former junior lieutenant in the United States Navy, now an assistant engineer of the steamship
Lake Gauthier, of the Lawrence
Steamship Company, charges that the British discriminated against the ships of the Lawrence line, flying
the American flag. According to Clark, his ship arrived with a cargo
at Liverpool and before being permitted to enter the Manchester Canal
was forced to alter the masts. Entering the canal they were forced to wait
two weeks at Manchester before they could unload their cargo, although in that time numerous British ships arrived, discharged their cargoes, took
on another cargo and cleared.

The situation found Republicans
arrayed against Democrats, and Democrats pitted against Democrats,
a situation which it was freely predicted would continue to give party leaders outside the senate much to think about during the campaign.

Debate on the treaty is to continue
today with the sixth Lodge reservation, that involving the Shantung
dispute still before the senate.

When common pleas Judge Kinkead,
acting upon her appeal, from Gov.
Cox's action authorizing her return to Chicago, ruled that Mrs. Prevey be held 48 hours in the county jail here
for Illinois officers or until her attorneys could appeal to the appellate court, she was taken back to jail.

While her counsel was making out
the appeal papers, Mrs. Agnes Walsh,
Chicago police woman, asked Sheriff
Slack to turn Mrs. Prevey over to her.
In accordance with instructions from County Prosecutor Schlesinger, the
sheriff did so.

The remains of Gen. Denikin's troops are being forced toward the Caucasian mountains and the soviet claims that its army will inevitably control the Caspian sea.

CHICAGO POLICE USE TECHNICALITY

Columbus, O., March 4.—Taking advantage of a technicality, Chicago police officers here obtained possession
of Mrs. Margaret Prevey of Akron,
who will be tried in Chicago for alleged "red" activities.

When common pleas Judge Kinkead,
acting upon her appeal, from Gov.
Cox's action authorizing her return to Chicago, ruled that Mrs. Prevey be held 48 hours in the county jail here
for Illinois officers or until her attorneys could appeal to the appellate court, she was taken back to jail.

While her counsel was making out
the appeal papers, Mrs. Agnes Walsh,
Chicago police woman, asked Sheriff
Slack to turn Mrs. Prevey over to her.
In accordance with instructions from County Prosecutor Schlesinger, the
sheriff did so.

The remains of Gen. Denikin's troops are being forced toward the Caucasian mountains and the soviet claims that its army will inevitably
control the Caspian sea.

THINK ENGINEER DIED BEFORE CRASH

Elizabeth, N. J., March 4.—A lifeless hand, officials today believe, drove the "Philadelphia flier" crack Central railway of New Jersey express, past a danger signal and into a local train near here last night causing four deaths. The engineer, William S. Sell, found dead in his cab, is thought to have died from heart failure prior to the crash. An investigation to determine this is under way now.

Statements by railroad attaches showed a danger signal was set against the flier.

POLICE SCANDAL IN NEW YORK PROMISES TO RIVAL BECKER CASE

Bribery and Extortion Charged in Indictment of Members of Force Through Investigation Recently.

GRAFT FROM WOMEN IN STREETS IS ALLEGED

Sensational Developments Follow Revelation of Graft Proceedings in City Police Force and Their "Tools."

New York, March 4.—A police scandal that promises to assume the proportions of the famous Becker case was disclosed here today following the indictment by a grand jury of Detective John J. Gunson, on charges of bribery and extortion. An investigation of the entire police department is under way, and it is alleged that ten other and an attorney are involved in a form of wholesale grafting from women in the streets.

It was announced from the district attorney's office that the investigation is in its infancy and will uncover the worst scandal that has touched the department in years.

Gunson is charged specifically with having accepted $50 from a woman of the streets for promised protection, and also with having extorted money from the same woman by threatening her with arrest unless she "paid up."

The woman, Rebecca Malayo, told James E. Smith, assistant district attorney, that Gunson persuaded her to operate in the upper Broadway "white way" district, and with other detectives, promised her protection. Every morning, she declared, she divided the proceeds with Gunson.

The Malayo girl said she had known Gunson three years, and had given him about $5,000 and many presents, including theater tickets, silk shirts, jewelry and meals. She said she had lived with him as his "sister" and had acted as "rounder up" of other girls who had to "come through" with money for policemen.
Rose Gonzales and Estelle Young, two other women of the streets, corroborated her story.

Both the Malayo girl and Rose Gonzales asserted they had many times bought their freedom from the policemen after being arrested, paying as high as $500 for their release.

When the Malayo girl decided to "go straight," she charged, Gunson pursued her and demanded that she follow her old vocation, driving her from positions and forcing her to keep out of the middle town district under Gunson's jurisdiction.

All three women charged that it was often necessary for women of the streets to sell their jewelry and pawn their clothing to meet the "pull off" demands of the police.

"The scandal we have uncovered in the police department would be incredible were it not supported by the strongest evidence," said Smith today.
"The probe has just begun and far more sensational charges are being investigated."

Arrangements for a banquet to be held the latter part of March, at which some of the national campaign speakers will be invited to be present, were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Greene County Republican Club, Wednesday night.
The meeting was the first one which has been held in the new headquarters of the club, over the Katz clothing store.

Membership, organization, finance, music and banquet committees were appointed chairman of the committees are: J. P. Shumaker, membership; Arthur Kelly, organization; Elbert L. Babb, finance, and James
D. Adair, music and banquet.

The present commission chamber will be redecorated and will serve as the private office for the City Auditor and the water works business, as well as private sanctum for the engineering department.

The present auditor's office will be the cashier's office for water works business, the fixtures used in the office of the Xenia Water Company, being installed there.

New signs designating the offices will be painted and the main entrance to the building will be at the west door of the new commission chamber instead of through the auditor's office.

DECLARE TWO MILLION DOLLAR WILL OF LATE PITTSBURGH WIDOW VOID IN COURT

New York, March 4.—The $2,000,000 will of Mrs. Rosa E. Spang, late widow of a Pittsburgh steel millionaire, was declared void when a surrogate's court jury returned a verdict early today that Mrs. Spang was of unsound mind when she signed the testament. The jury reported at 8:15 o'clock, after having been out for more than 12 hours.

Mrs. Spang, who died at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on June 22, 1919, had left the bulk of her estate in trust for a home for abandoned girls until they could become self supporting. The will was contested by daughter, Mrs. Mabel Cromie Ancker of Copenhagen, Denmark, who has been bequeathed only a nominal sum

JUMPS FROM $18.50 TO $105.00 A ROLL NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS FORCED TO PAY 6 TIMES WHAT THEY USED TO FOR PAPER

ALONG with the great, white paper shortage, which is threatening the very existence of many papers in the country today, comes the word that there is no immediate relief in sight, and that the price which has been rising by leaps and bounds for the past three years has again taken an upward trend.

The full weight of this exigency has already been felt by local newspapers. Less than a week ago they were forced to pay on the open market $105 each for 25 rolls of newsprint. Three years ago the same sized roll cost $18.50. This naked statement must bring home to every reader of a newspaper the tremendous increase in the cost of production of a newspaper today, over what it was three or four years ago.

"This fact ought to be impressed on every newspaper in the country," points out a well known publisher of the east. "News-papers are today face to face with a situation that threatens their day to day publication, and the publisher who refuses consistently to raise his subscription rates must sooner or later have the sheriff knock at his door."

Probably in no other line of business has the advanced cost of living today been more felt than it has been by the newspapers, and yet they have as a whole increased their prices less in proportion than the average product on the market today. And even when faced by a ten and a half cent per pound cost of print paper in contrast to 13-4c of a few years ago they are slow to raise their subscription rates to partially cover costs.

The question is often asked, "why can a big city paper afford to sell a larger paper for less than the small city?" The answer is that the metropolitan newspaper will saddle the cost of production on the advertiser in increased rates, and will actually lose money on the sale of the paper. An illustration of this is last Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer, in which the actual value of the paper itself was 13-13 cents, at the market price of paper. The larger the paper, the greater the volume of advertising carried, which makes it possible for the publisher to reduce the price to the subscriber.

DO IT NOW.
A worthy slogan and one that all should adopt, for it is human nature to "put it off." Do you realize that now is the time to select the monument or marker which you wish to see upon your lot when the beautiful days of spring and summer arrive? So many folks wait until only a few weeks before Memorial Day and then expect the work erected promptly, when it could have been made so easy by "Doing it Now."

GRANDSON OF FORMER XENIA PASTOR DEAD

Samuel S. Breckenridge, a grandson of the late Rev. Samuel Shaffer, who a number of years ago was pastor of the Lutheran church in this city, died Monday at a hospital in Stuttgart, Ark. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Breckenridge, 625 North Wittenberg avenue, Springfield. He was formerly a well known athlete in Springfield, and gained an enviable reputation as a pitcher. He pitched in the South Atlantic League one season. He had been engaged in business in Stuttgart.

Something Out of the Ordinary Here!

Jane Phelps, that mistress of newspaper serial stories, who captivates you with her knowledge of human nature and her command of situations, will again appear before Xenia readers with a story that is at once so thrilling, so magnetic, and interesting as to hold your attention keyed to the breaking point from the start until the conclusion.

This story which will be first released through the columns of the Gazette and Republican, represents a departure from the ordinary run of newspaper serial stories.

In its desire to procure the best for its readers the management has gone to considerable expense to obtain the best, and feels that in this feature it has added something worth while.

FINDS WIFE DEAD IN BED AT HOME HERE WEDNESDAY

Wondering why his wife, Mrs. Edna Engkeling, remained in her bedroom so long Wednesday, Henry Engkeling, tailor, of 220 North West street, went to the room and found her dead in bed. A physician said that she had been dead several hours, and that death was due to natural causes.

Mrs. Engkeling had not been complaining except from rheumatic pains in her shoulders. Wednesday morning she arose early brought the milk in the house from the front doorstep, and retired to her bedroom without saying that she was ill. Her husband went about his work and it was several hours later before her long absence led him to investigate. He found her body and called neighbors. Rendered speechless from the horror of finding his wife dead, Mr. Engkeling led neighbors to the room, and pointed silently at her figure in the bed.

Mrs. Engkeling was born in Germany, and was married there. She and her husband came to this country together living for a time in Cincinnati, and later moving to this city where they have lived in the same home for many years. Mrs. Engkeling assisted her husband in his tailoring work. She is survived by her husband and three sons, Edward, of Indianapolis; Herman, who is with a carnival company, and is supposed to be in Augusta, Ga., and Ernest, of Dayton.

Funeral services will take place at the home at 2:30 Saturday.

ATHENS EDUCATOR SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

G. F. Morgan, superintendent of schools at Athens, Ohio, gave a short talk to the students of Central High School, Thursday morning.

Mr. Morgan is a very pleasing speaker and held the attention of his audience. He used numerous humorous stories to illustrate his point, which enlivened his talk.

The point he brought out is that our return is based solely on what we talk to anything.

He talked of the people who are satisfied to get by with a narrow margin and those who are satisfied when they can put something over on a teacher and think that they are gaining by it when indirectly they are only losing that much.

Mr. Morgan will address the students again this afternoon at 1:30 in the "Presbyterian church. His short talk this morning was for the purpose of getting acquainted with the students.

Mr. Morgan is the first of a number of well known speakers who will be brought here to address the students of the local school.

WET FORCES BEGIN ASSAULT ON LAW

Albany, N. Y., March 4.—"Wet" legislators today began another assault on the enforcement of the present national prohibition law. Senator John J. Walker, Democratic leader of the state senate, introduced in the legislature a bill which would permit the sale under state laws of beer with an alcoholic content of not more than 2.75 percent by weight. The bill is identical in all other respects to the "three percent beer bill" introduced last year by Senator J. Henry Walters, Republican senator leader.

It would bar the sale of 2.75 percent beer in saloons but permit its sale by wholesalers to individuals for home consumption in quantities of not more than five gallons.

SUFFERS ACCIDENT TWICE; LEG BROKEN

Several years ago Marshall Brown of New Jasper, sustained a broken thigh bone as the result of a kick of a horse. The injury was such that amputation of the leg above the knee became necessary. Wednesday he was the victim of an identical accident, when his other leg was broken above the knee, by a horse's kick. He was brought to the McCallan hospital, where surgeons set the fracture Thursday morning.

Story of Golden Egg Revived Here

And now comes Patrick Gillespie proudly exploiting the prize hen story of this enlightened day. Mr. Gillespie found inefficiency in one of his hens and with the purpose of increasing production bought a package of a well-known egg producer, and gave to biddy according to the directions.

The next day the same hen won the barbed wire necklace by depositing the season's prize hen fruit, an ample egg of some three and five-eighths ounces in weight. The unusual egg, with its immediate predecessor of the normal size, is on display in the window of the Domes drug store, where it gives a shining example of "before and after."

QUOIT CLUB TO HOLD BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Xenia Quoit Club will be given this year by the ladies of the Second U. P. Church, West Market Street, Tuesday evening, March 16th, 6:30 o'clock.

The annual banquet this year is expected to excel all previous ones.

The throwers of the metal rings, are anxious for an opportunity to get together early, and each tell how they expect to "star" in this year's contests, and this banquet gives them the opportunity.

DO IT NOW.

A worthy slogan and one that all should adopt, for it is human nature to "put it off." Do you realize that now is the time to select the monument or marker which you wish to see upon your lot when the beautiful days of spring and summer arrive? So many folks wait until only a few weeks before Memorial Day and then expect the work erected promptly, when it could have been made so easy by "Doing it Now."

GRANDSON OF FORMER XENIA PASTOR DEAD

Samuel S. Breckenridge, a grandson of the late Rev. Samuel Shaffer, who a number of years ago was pastor of the Lutheran church in this city, died Monday at a hospital in Stuttgart, Ark. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Breckenridge, 625 North Wittenberg avenue, Springfield. He was formerly a well known athlete in Springfield, and gained an enviable reputation as a pitcher. He pitched in the South Atlantic League one season. He had been engaged in business in Stuttgart.

This story which will be first released through the columns of the Gazette and Republican, represents a departure from the ordinary run of newspaper serial stories.

Wondering why his wife, Mrs. Edna Engleking, remained in her bedroom so long Wednesday, Henry Engleking, tailor, of 220 North West street, went to the room and found her dead in bed. A physician said that she had been dead several hours, and that death was due to natural causes.

Mrs. Engleking had not been complaining except from rheumatic pains in her shoulders. Wednesday morning she arose early brought the milk in the house from the front doorstep, and retired to her bedroom without saying that she was ill. Her husband went about his work and it was several hours later before her long absence led him to investigate. He found her body and called neighbors. Rendered speechless from the horror of finding his wife dead, Mr. Engleking led neighbors to the room, and pointed silently at her figure in the bed.

Mrs. Engleking was born in Germany, and was married there. She and her husband came to this country together living for a time in Cincinnati, and later moving to this city where they have lived in the same home for many years. Mrs. Engleking assisted her husband in his tailoring work. She is survived by her husband and three sons, Edward, of Indianapolis; Herman, who is with a carnival company, and is supposed to be in Augusta, Ga., and Ernest, of Dayton.

Funeral services will take place at the home at 2:30 Saturday.

ATHENS EDUCATOR SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

G. F. Morgan, superintendent of schools at Athens, Ohio, gave a short talk to the students of Central High School, Thursday morning.

Mr. Morgan is a very pleasing speaker and held the attention of his audience.

He used numerous humorous stories to illustrate his point, which enlivened his talk.

The point he brought out is that our return is based solely on what we put into anything. He talked of the people who are satisfied to get by with a narrow margin and those who are satisfied when they can put something over on a teacher and think that they are gaining by it when indirectly they are only losing that much.

Mr. Morgan will address the students again this afternoon at 1:30 in the Presbyterian church. His short talk this morning was for the purpose of getting acquainted with the students.

Mr. Morgan is the first of a number of well known speakers who will be brought here to address the students of the local school.

WET FORCES BEGIN ASSAULT ON LAW

Albany, N. Y., March 4.—"Wet" legislators today began another assault on the enforcement of the present national prohibition law. Senator John J. Walker, Democratic leader of the state senate, introduced in the legislature a bill which would permit the sale under state laws of beer with an alcoholic content of not more than 2.75 percent by weight. The bill is identical in all other respects to the "three percent beer bill" introduced last year by Senator J. Henry Walters, Republican senator leader.

It would bar the sale of 2.75 percent beer in saloons but permit its sale by wholesalers to individuals for home consumption in quantities of not more than five gallons.

He was brought to the McCallan hospital, where surgeons set the fracture Thursday morning.

Story of Golden Egg Revived Here

And now comes Patrick Gillespie proudly exploiting the prize hen story of this enlightened day.

Mr. Gillespie found inefficiency in one of his hens and with the purpose of increasing production bought a package of a well-known egg producer, and gave to bid according to the directions.

The next day the same hen won the barbed wire necklace by depositing the season's prize hen fruit, an ample egg of some three and five-eighths ounces in weight. The unusual egg, with its immediate predecessor of the normal size, is on display in the window of the Donges drug store, where it gives a shining example of "before and after."

GREENE COUNTY FARM BUREAU HAS LONG RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENTS IN CONNECTION WITH RURAL LIFE OF THE COMMUNITY

LESS than two years of age, the Greene County Farm Bureau, has become an aggressive factor in the rural life of the community.

The farm bureau is an outgrowth of the old Greene County Agricultural Improvement Association, but an institution entirely separate from that organization. Yet, infant that it is, the society is older than either the American Farm Bureau Federation, or the Ohio Farm Bureau.

The Greene County Farm Bureau was born in the spring of 1918, when Ford S. Prince came here to take on the duties of agricultural agent.

The Ohio Farm Bureau was organized in January 1919, and the American Farm Bureau came to life at a meeting, in Chicago last November. O. E. Bradfute, head of the Ohio Farm Bureau, is a member of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and secretary of the Greene County Bureau. Bryson was Chairman.

W. B. Bryson, representative in the General Assembly, was chairman of the old executive committee of the Greene County Agricultural Improvement Association which was instrumental in the formation of the present farm bureau. Other members of that committee were: P. H. Flynn, W. M. Hardman, H. M. Snook, A. A. Shoup, A. L. Gilbert, L. C. Peterson, H. E. Bales, A. B. Lewis, E. M. Smith, George Glass, A. H. Creswell and J. B. Vandervort. It has been four or five years since the old agricultural organization had died, and to form the people into a new society required hard work.

Under the leadership of Ford S. Prince, the aggressive young farm agent, the Farm Bureau has been built up into a vigorous membership of nearly 600. The first of this year, the fee was advanced from $1 to $5.00 a year, and a membership campaign was inaugurated. This campaign was launched at a banquet for committee-men and workers from the various townships, which was held at the Chamber of Commerce, January 8.

Weather Inclement.

The elements combined in an effort to defeat the plan. The weather which developed that day was the worst of the winter, and snow and ice effectively prevented the majority of the workers being present. Then followed weeks of ice and snow, when many people were unable to go on the roads, and those who did so, ventured out at their own risk.

This prevented the campaign being completed and in several townships, workers have scarcely started the canvass. With good weather just opening up, County Agent Prince expects a triumphant close to the campaign shortly.

Bath township leads in membership in the farm bureau, having 98 men enrolled. Xenia township is next with 77. Beavercreek has 71, Spring Valley, 70, Jefferson, 59, Ross 62, Cedarville 51, Silvercreek 14, Sugarcreek 24, Miami, 30, while Caesar Creek and New Jasper have only eight members between them.

"We ought to have at least 1,000 members in the Greene County Farm Bureau," said Mr. Prince, and I expect we will have close to that number at least when our campaign closes." A campaign for farm bureau members in Highland county with a $10 membership fee, has just concluded, eight days' work netting 1,220 members.

Five Committees.

The farm bureau work is divided among five committees: soils, crops, livestock, legislative and business. Albert Ankeney Jr., is chairman of the live stock committee; H. M. Snook, of Osborn heads the soils committee; W. M. Hardman of Yellow Springs, the crops committee; O. E. Bradfute, the legislative, and H. W. Eavey, the business committees.

Men interested in special lines of work in each township, such as livestock, soil fertility and the like, have organized and elected a chairman who is a member of the executive board, of the county farm bureau. Each township too, has its miniature organization, exactly the same plan as its parent society, the county bureau.

The Hessian fly, which is the cause of much damage to the wheat, and which is due next year to be at the peak of its wave like career is receiving the earnest attention of County Agent Prince and members of the farm bureau this spring, in the efforts to produce better varieties of wheat. All townships are taking up the wheat fly for investigation. The third week in March the work of studying the fly will commence. The chairman of the crops committee in each township has been instructed to arrange for a meeting place for that purpose in his township, at a piece of wheat which was seeded early, for the purpose of demonstrating that the infestation is greater in the early seeded field. It is necessary also that this field be near a piece of wheat which was seeded late, in order that the object lesson may be accomplished, showing the need of controlling the seeding date in order to escape the ravages of the fly. H. H. Parks, entomologist from the State University will assist in the work.

Take Up Live Stock.

Most townships are also taking up some live stock project, all are interested in soil fertility and in the legislative work.

In Bath township the local farm organization is working out a better milk and cream marketing plan, and is interested also in egg shipping direct to the eastern markets. During the winter when eggs were selling at top notch in the eastern markets, a number of Greene county producers began shipping eggs direct by express. They received $1.07 a dozen for the product, netting about $1 a dozen.

The boys' and girls' club work is an interesting feature of the farm bureau which several townships are taking up this year. A calf club will be formed for boys in Beavercreek township, and in Ross and Jefferson pig and calf clubs for boys and poultry clubs for the girls are to be formed.

Five separate organizations have sprung directly from the farm bureau. They are the Greene County Short-horn Breeders' Association, the Big Type Poland China Breeders' Association, The Sheep and Wool Growers' Association, and The Greene County Cow Testing Association. The Jersey breeders of the county, of whom there are about 25 will be organized at a meeting to be held March 20, and the bureau expects to arouse poultry breeders into forming an organization.

County Holds Record.

Greene county has for years held the record for being the leading stock growing county in Ohio, and one of the leaders in the United States. Its hold on the record was loosened for a time, but breeders of thoroughbred livestock had taken a firm grasp on the situation. Last October, under the direction of the Farm Bureau, a two days livestock tour of the county was taken, all the principal livestock farms being visited by the automobile tourists, who inspected the stock, and heard the proprietor of the farm explain his methods in developing his particular breed of animals. Seventeen breeds of livestock were visited.

One instance of the renewed interest in pure bred livestock, is the fact that a few years there was only one breeder of spotted Poland China hogs in the county. Now there are twenty-five, and they are formed into an active organization for mutual betterment. Erith Shoup, a member of the association, is secretary of the State Association of Spotted Poland China breeders.

Have Cow Testing.

The cow testing association, is an interesting branch of the dairy business. R. J. Wright, the tester, is kept busy his entire time visiting the herds of the association and testing the milk. The tester remains on a farm from two to seven days, each day's work costing the owner of the herd $40.

A member of the Greene County Farm Bureau in Jefferson township, A. B. Lewis, belongs to "One Hundred Bushel Corn Club" of Ohio. He was a winner last year of the 100 bushel corn contest conducted by the Ohio County Agent Prince is putting on the press his second issue of the Greene County Farm News, which he calls a monthly letter to members of State University.

The association, keeping them informed of matters of interest to farmers. One of the objects of the national state and local farm bureaus, according to Mr. Prince, is to create a better understanding between the city and the rural dweller. To correct the erroneous impression of city people regarding agriculture, the profits from farming and the responsibility of farmers for prevailing high prices.

Objects of Body. To disseminate information regarding production costs. To create sentiment among the consuming class favorable to allowing farmers a wage commensurate with that allowed other classes of workers. Gathering and disseminating of information regarding supplies of farm products.

Proclaiming that relief from burden of high prices is to be found in large production of the individual rather than in high wages.

County Agent Prince is a native of Shelby county, Ohio. He graduated from the agricultural college, University of Illinois, and taught in the agricultural colleges of Michigan State University, and New Hampshire College, before coming to Greene county as farm agent.

The Greene County Farm Bureau will elect a president, vice-president and secretary treasurer, March 27. W. B. Bryson is now president, W. M. Hardman, vice-president, O. E. Bradfute, secretary and P. H. Flynn, treasurer.

The first co-operative sale ever held in the county will take place Saturday in Spring Valley. It is held under the direction of the farm bureau.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" --- An Ouija Board

A Jar of Vicks is Protection Against Colds

More than a score of years ago, a druggist in a little North Carolina town was searching for a better way to treat colds. He knew that epic and internal medicines did not go direct to the lungs and air passages, and often did derange the digestion.

At last he found a process by which he could combine standard, time-tested remedies in salve form, so that when the salve was applied over the throat and chest the ingredients would be vaporized by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carried the medication direct to the lungs and air passages. At the same time the salve was absorbed through and stimulated the skin, aiding the vapors inhaled to relieve the congestion.

This preparation was named Vicks VapoRub, and year by year its use has steadily grown until now more than 17 million jars are used annually.

Vicks is a Real "Little Bodyguard" to Old and Young

For mothers with small children Vicks is a boon indeed. No dosing—just apply well over the throat and chest at the first sign of "sniffles," and cover with a hot flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. An application at bed time usually prevents a night attack of spasmodic croup.

For deep chest colds, bronchitis, sore throat, hoarseness—hot wet towels should first be applied over the throat and chest to open the pores of the skin—then rub on Vicks.

For head colds, asthma, catarrh, whooping cough—a little Vicks can be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled.

Formula of Vicks

Vicks contains Menthol from Japan—Camphor from the Island of Formosa—Oil of Eucalyptus from Australia—Oil of Juniper Tar from the Mediterranean Coast—Turpentine from the long leaf pine trees of the South—Petrolatum from the oil fields of Pennsylvania, and other valuable ingredients.

If Filled on Prescription a 30-cent Jar of Vicks Would Cost from 60 to 75 Cents

These ingredients are bought in enormous quantities, carefully tested by our chemists and mixed by automatic machinery in our huge laboratory, employing over 200 people.

Recently an officer of this Company had a prescription for a 30-cent jar of Vicks filled in various cities—below are given the prices charged, which of course do not include the physician's fee:

Lynchburg, Va. .60 Chicago, Ill. .70
Baltimore, Md. .65 San Francisco .75
New York, N.Y. .65 St. Louis, Mo. .70

REPUBLICANS DEMANDING HOOVER FOR PRESIDENT.

A Washington dispatch says Republican voters throughout the United States are determined not to let the Democratic party capture Herbert Hoover as a presidential candidate. Detailed information indicates that a widely organized effort is now in progress to induce the leaders of the Republican party to harken to the popular demand for a candidate of Hoover's caliber.

The movement springs from the belief that the archpriests of the G. O. P. hierarchy, as manifested by Senator Boies Penrose's statements last week, stubbornly refuse to countenance Hoover's "availability" as the party's standard-bearer in 1920. It has, therefore, been decided to provide the party management with indisputable evidence of Hoover's strength among the country's voters.

The plans now assuming concrete form contemplate the presentation of the evidence in convincing shape to the Chicago convention in June. The promoters hope and believe that it will be proof incontrovertible and irresistible.

Two distinct and separate Hoover "drives" are in motion or about to be set in motion. They are entirely unrelated. The first originated in Mr. Hoover's native state of California, at Los Angeles. From that center a movement has been launched to form "Hoover young Republican clubs" in virtually every state of the Union. The elements behind that particular enterprise are representative young Republicans of the progressive type.

The second "drive" on Mr. Hoover's behalf originated in a totally different quarter. It is a movement undertaken by 4000 Liberty Loan workers scattered all over the United States. For the most part they are young bankers—the men who were mainly responsible for inducing 21,000,000 Americans to take many billion dollars in war bond subscriptions.

The more enthusiastic spirits among the Liberty Loan brigade regard it within the realm of their possibilities that they can muster 10,000,000 voters who will sign a petition for Herbert Hoover's nomination as Republican candidate for president. That, at any rate, is said to be the goal they have set for themselves.

The concrete projects above mentioned, aiming at making Hoover the Republican rather than the Democratic standard-bearer, will be easy of accomplishment, judging by private assurances reaching him from every quarter and with every mail. Those assurances come from confessed "Organization Republicans." They are sent in by men who want to vote for Hoover, but who do not want to vote the Democratic ticket if they can help it. They make, many of them, plaintive appeals to the ex-food administrator not to accept the "nomination of despair" which they say the Democrats would offer him. Their plea is that the Democrats do not love Hoover more, but defeat less.

HELPING ALL TO HELP THEMSELVES.

The significance of the annual report of the General Education Board founded by Mr. Rockefeller lies not so much in the fact that $1,675,000 was given for educational purposes to various institutions without distinction of race, sex or creed, but in the method of distribution which is largely along the lines of helping institutions to help themselves. In other words, as is the practice with most of the other great foundations, the Carnegie and the Sage, the effort is to give an amount in a certain definite proportion to another amount which the colleges and institutions raise through their own efforts. Just how much money will be obtained by the various drives that are now going on in college circles throughout the country, which are in fact stimulated by Rockefeller co-operation, cannot be ascertained until the summer commencements, when full reports will be at hand. But, up to date, it is very plain that, despite all untoward conditions growing out of the post-war demoralization of finance and business, most of the colleges will realize substantially the amounts they are after. As this success will mean rather striking contributions from the three great educational funds, some fair idea is given by these amounts of the fact that education is still the passion of Americans, and not even the great burdens of the war have changed the disposition of many to give until it hurts in order that the leading institutions of the country may be put on a sound financial basis.

Even if all the ambitions planned be not realized, it must be remembered that we are much better off in this respect than other countries, for the private generosity of Americans toward their educational institutions is still the "admiration of the elder earth." That the future must be under-written educationally if we are to meet the great problems that face this country as the guide and almoner of the old world, cannot be too often emphasized. More than ever we need an educated and trained citizenry, and, compared with the real necessities of higher education the country over, even the largest budgets seem small and the Rockefeller contributions a minute fraction of the vast sums that will have to be spent to make up in peace for the wastes of the war.

WHAT WOULD GRIMM AND GOLDSMITH WRITE ABOUT IN THESE DAYS OF NO EMPTY HOUSES

If the world famous Grimm, author of Grimm's Fairy Tales, so well known to childhood, had waited until the present day and age to write his stories, the world would probably never have known "The Haunted House."

Had Oliver Goldsmith, author of that immortal classic "The Deserted Village," been recording his views in this most unusual era, it is safe to say that excellent contribution to literature would not have been given to the world.

For Grimm's haunted houses must necessarily be deserted houses. The musty smell of the uninhabited dwelling, the scene of emptiness and the feeling of mystery, that seems to recall only the spirit of those who once lived there, lends itself admirably to the plot of a "haunted house" story.

Where would Grimm have been had he not been able to lead his daring characters into the dark mysteries of a haunted house at midnight, and there amid ghosts and moving objects, impelled seemingly by no earthly force, to teach them "to shiver and to shake."

And where would Goldsmith have found theme for his offering to literature had it not been for the empty houses, once comfortable dwellings, decaying from the effects of time and the elements.

Yet, if either of these writers had been living in the present age, they would have searched long and far before they would have uncovered one empty house to furnish mystery for a fairy tale or theme for immortal poem.

For in this present age there are no empty houses. Everything available in the dwelling line has been snatched up by people whose home was purchased by someone who had just had theirs rented out from over them.

Old dwellings, almost abandoned have been converted into comfortable habitations and barns have been reconstructed into homes in the pressing need for houses that has swept over this city and other cities.

"The Deserted Village" may live in literature and exists in memory but in reality it is a thing of the past, just like the ghosts and hobgoblins who seemed to infest the earth in the time of the inimitable Grimm.

CHATTER

"I understand you get off some very good things occasionally," said the sweet young thing at the swell reception.

"Well, they say I do," replied the man with the monocle.

"But it takes you considerable time to do it."

"You mean I am verbose?"

"Not exactly that; but you've been standing on the train of my dress for ten minutes."

Johnson had realized the dream of his life and taken his only son into partnership in the business he had worked up himself. There was great pride in the old man's heart the first day they were installed in the office together.

As the days went on, however, all did not work as Johnson had expected, and the youngster's overbearing manner annoyed him considerably.

"Look here, young man," said he one morning, "let's have a little less of the 'I' and a little more of the 'we' in this business. Remember, I'm still here, and you're only junior partner."

The youngster was quiet for a week, and the father thought his few words had struck home. A few days later, however, his son appeared, looking just a trifle anxious. "I say, dad, we've been and done it now!" he remarked.

"Done what?" asked the alarmed parent.

"Well—er—we've been and married the typist."

"When I moved in my landlord told me he was going to do a lot of things about this place."

"Doesn't he keep his promise?"

"Only one of them. When he says he is going to raise the rent he never fails."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

We understand that the Wooster Construction Company, which built the Dayton and Xenia traction line has a contract for building an electric line in Porto Rico.

Mr. Pat Gillespie, who was formerly employed at the Fleming drug store, has accepted a position at the Cunningham drug store.

Mr. T. H. Bell, the real estate agent who has had his headquarters at Babb's hardware store, has rented offices in the Millen building.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Zell have issued invitations for a reception to be given at their home Friday, for the purpose of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Ora M. Whittington.

Mr. John Vanderpool was a visitor in Indianapolis yesterday.

Leona, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton is having a little tussle with the measles.

WANTS LIBERATION OF FORTY MORE OF 'FRAUD' DEFENDANTS

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 4.—Possibility that still more defendants in the Newberry trial would be dismissed from the case by Judge Sessions today loomed at the opening of the morning session, when Judge James O. Murfin, of the defense counsel, began a plea for the liberation of forty of them.

The defense was especially optimistic today as the result of the dismissal of more defendants Wednesday and the impression created by the airy testimony of James W. Helme, who ran against Henry Ford in the Democratic primaries at the behest of the Newberry campaign workers. Time and again the absurd picture he drew of himself as a "conspirator" brought laughs from the court, and his testimony is regarded as having scored heavily in favor of all the respondents.

As soon as motions to drop various of the defendants have been acted upon the defense will present its case. The first witness will be George Miller, managing editor of the Detroit News, who will testify concerning the starting of the campaign.

EAST END NEWS

Mr. Delmar Raymond who was called here on account of the death of his cousin, Mr. William Campbell, left Sunday night for Chicago where he is attending the School of Pharmacy.

Dr. Hawkins has purchased a new Ford machine. It is a two-passenger car of the latest model. It looks like it was made to the doctor's order.

Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Covington, Ky., is visiting her niece, Mrs. Magie Moss. She was called here on account of the death of her niece, Miss Marguarite Moss.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

Should invitations to social occasions be sent to persons in deep mourning?" asked Mrs. White.

"After the first month it is permissible, even though the sender knows that the invitation cannot be accepted. It shows the mourner is not forgotten by her friends and that it is intended as a complement," replied Mrs. Blank.

MOTOR AIDS

Many a driver who keeps the interior of his car spotless, neglects his motor. Realizing this the motor manufacturers are enclosing the engines as much as possible, so that the working parts may be protected from dirt and dust. But every driver does not possess such a car and no motor can be entirely dust proof.

Keeping the motor clean is necessary for its efficiency. A dirty motor may be readily cleaned with a stiff paint brush and a pint of gasoline. Brush it off thoroughly with the brush moistened in the gasoline and then wipe clean. Then if a friend wishes to look at your motor it may be exhibited without shame.

A case of overheating that is frequently overlooked is because of a slipping fan belt. It must run at the speed intended or it will not properly cool the motor. If you can take hold of the blades of the fan when the belt is on, and can spin it, then the belt is too loose. A very good arrangement is to have the tension of the belt automatically taken up by a spring.

RALPH HAINES, JR.
DIES ON THURSDAY

Ralph K. Haines, Jr., three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K.

Haines of New Hope, died at 3 o'clock Thursday morning of glandular fever, after two weeks' illness. The baby was born November 20. Mr. Haines has just recovered from the malady, and the two other children, Jean and Thomas are ill. On that account funeral services were held Thursday afternoon.

SECOND TEAM HAS WEAKNESS OF 1 TEAM

The second team showed about the same weakness as did the first string men, standing around on the floor and watching their opponents pass around them. The greatest fault, however, was their negligence in following up their shots as time after time they would shoot and run back down the floor when it would have been possible to have taken another shot.

They played just the reverse of the first time and held the high hand in the first half and then allowed their opponents to overtake them in the final period.

The first half was hard fought, with neither side doing much scoring and the local team was leading, 8 to 2 at its close.

In the second half the eBaver outfit came back strong and a quintet of baskets by Delhamer gave them the victory. The local team seemed to go to pieces and could not rally to check their opponents.

Moore and Vannorsdall played scrappy games for the locals, the former doing much of the scoring and the latter tenaciously clinging to his larger opponents and causing them much trouble.

Delhamer was the big noise for the Beavers in the scoring line, while Wolf and Moore also shone.

XENIA WEEK-BY-WEEK

TODAY KING ASPIRIN REIGNS SUPREME

The aspirin hounds are now juggling the little white sedative tablets in larger and larger quantities. Xenia followers of the trail of the Bayer pills are baying to the moon for more constantly. The aspirin tablet has come to be the biggest fad of the age. It has succeeded quinine and yet calomel as the original prize home remedy.

Who ever heard of aspirin several years ago? The echo, answers back, no one. Yet the aspirin tablet is the most saleable article on the shelves of the apothecary at present and the hills and dales abound with the lads with the little white pills in their possession.

Time was when quinine had the call on all quick action drugs. Time was again when calomel was the peer in the pain killing department. And then came aspirin, sweeping all before it. There are those who use aspirin in a frequency that labels them, aspirin addicts. However, the little pills seem harmless, and are evidently helpful. They are the arch enemy of headache and are holding their own consistently in the quick relief line.

But what is aspirin? Aspirin is the name given to a chemical first manufactured by Farbendfabriken of Elberfeld Company, German, the predecessor of The Bayer Company. Thus it is a German product like good many other things that the United States discovered it could substitute or do without during the late unpleasantness.

In fact because it was a German owned company, the company was seized during the war by the United States government, and later sold to American interests, still retaining however, the name Bayer, which is a widely advertised trade name.

The product was patented by the Elberfeld Company in the United States on February 27, 1900, which patent expired February 27, 1917, just three years ago, at the end of the period covered by the United States patent. Germany does not grant patents on any medicinal chemicals.

As soon as the United States patent expired the United Drug Company of Boston, whose exclusive agents, are the Rexall Stores, applied to the Patent Office at Washington for a cancellation of the claim of The Bayer Company to the exclusive use of the name "aspirin" which was the name of the product covered in the patent.

This cancellation was a public necessity because had The Bayer Company been granted a perpetual exclusive monopoly to use the name "aspirin" the American people would have been obliged to buy aspirin made only by The Bayer Company, because the chemical had been so constantly sold under the name "aspirin" the public knew no other name for it.

The result would be that while other manufacturers have the legal right to manufacture the product under the formula given in the expired patent they could not call it by its true name "aspirin" and the public would not know that it was the same product as that produced under the expired aspirin patent.

The patent authorities decision was to the effect that the United Drug Company's contention was well founded and the name "aspirin" together with the right to make and sell the product covered by this patent became the property of the people of the United States upon the expiration of the patent. Also that The Bayer Company had no more claim to the exclusive right to use the name "aspirin" that they had to claim the right to use exclusively such common chemical names as "quinine" or "calomel."

This decision was rendered by the Patent Office on November 30, 1918. Since the expiration of the patent a number of high-class chemical houses of undisputable American origin and ownership have been making genuine aspirin.

Aspirin's principal use is as a pain remover, and it is supposed to be good in cases of rheumatic and neuralgic order, headache and other pains.

Columbus, March 4.—The annual convention of the Ohio United Mine Workers of America began in Odd Fellows hall, 198 1/2 South Eighth Street, here this morning. It is expected that 350 delegates will attend. The convention is expected to adjourn about Friday.

FATALLY BURNED.

Shadyside, March 4.—Andrew Deodomer, aged 48, was, perhaps, fatally burned when his lamp dropped into a bag of powder while at work in a mine.

COST $1.00 GALLON.

Bridgeport, March 4.—It costs more than a dollar per gallon of mash, raisin jack and pickhackle to operate stills here. Police got 500 gallons of the raw and finished product and the owners of the three stills paid $200 fine each in police court.

OPEN FIRES RESPONSIBLE.

Columbus, March 4.—Open, or unscreened, fires were held responsible today by State Fire Marshal Leonard for 15 of the 24 deaths and for 14 of the 34 deaths and 41 injuries in Ohio during February, all due to fire accidents.

XENIA WEEK-BY-WEEK

TODAY KING ASPIRIN REIGNS SUPREME

The aspirin hounds are now juggling the little white sedative tablets in larger and larger quantities. Xenia followers of the trail of the Bayer pills are buying to the moon for more constantly. The aspirin tablet has come to be the biggest fad of the age. It has succeeded quinine and yet calomel as the original prize home remedy.

Who ever heard of aspirin several years ago? The echo, answers back, no one. Yet the aspirin tablet is the most saleable article on the shelves of the apothecary at present and the hills and dales abound with the lads with the little white pills in their possession.

Time was when quinine had the call on all quick action drugs. Time was again when calomel was the peer in the pain killing department. And then came aspirin, sweeping all before it. There are those who use aspirin in a frequency that labels them, aspirin addicts. However, the little pills seem harmless, and are evidently helpful. They are the arch enemy of headache and are holding their own consistently in the quick relief line.

But what is aspirin? Aspirin is

Eight bullet wounds have been found in his head and chest, two of which it is thought, were made of bullets deflecting around his skull and emerging just over the temples on either sides. No attempt has been made to locate the lead yet, as physicians believe it is inadvisable to probe for the bullets while Moore is still in a serious condition. The small calibre of the weapon used is the only reason that the man was not killed outright.

Moore has been violent at times requiring two men to hold him, and at other times he goes into a stupor.

Joseph LePrel Tells How Wonderfully Nerv-Worth Accomplished the work.

This extraordinary statement was made a few days ago to James G. England, of this city, who is now in Erie, Pa., putting on one of his famous Nerv-Worth campaigns:

Feisler's Drug Store:—I suffered from severe pains. Very feverish. Stomach and digestion in very bad condition. I was forced to my bed and remained there three days. At times I was burning up with fever and then I "froze up and knew I had to fight the "flu."

My wife read a statement about Nerv-Worth being such a great help to ward off this terrible malady, and she purchased a bottle. In a day or so I was out of bed and am ready to go to work. Nerv-Worth certainly did all and more than the makers claim for it. It did its work effectively in my case and I advise all to use it and WARD OFF THE FLU.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE
STILL IN CRITICAL CONDITION IN W. C. H.

William Moore, Jr., former Green countyman, who shot himself at times with a 22 calibre revolver at his home in Washington C. H., Monday afternoon, during a temporary fit of insanity due to an attack on influenza, is still in a serious condition at Fayette hospital.

Eight bullet wounds have been found in his head and chest, two of which it is thought, were made of bullets deflecting around his skull and emerging just over the temples on either sides. No attempt has been made to locate the lead yet, as physicians believe it is inadvisable to probe for the bullets while Moore is still in a serious condition. The small calibre of the weapon used is the only reason that the man was not killed outright.

Moore has been violent at times requiring two men to hold him, and at other times he goes into a stupor.

Feisler's Drug Store.—I suffered from severe pains. Very feverish. Stomach and digestion in very bad condition. I was forced to my bed and remained there three days. At times I was burning up with fever and then I "froze up and knew I had to fight the "Flu."

My wife read a statement about Nerv-Worth being such a great help to ward off this terrible malady, so she purchased a bottle. In a day or so I was out of bed, and am ready to go to work. Nerv-Worth certainly did all and more than I could claim for it. It did its work off-tively in my case and I advise all use it and WARD OFF THE FLU.

GERMAN PRISONERS SENT HOME ON SHIPS LOANED TO FATHERLAND

The day Germany signed the protocol to the peace treaty France began sending back to Germany prisoners taken during the war. The foodstuffs and other supplies needed to care for the thousands of prisoners are sorely needed by the French folk. Instead, the first contingent sent home went on the

SOUTHERN-MARLOWE TO APPEAR IN DAYTON

The most significant event in the American Theater in many seasons has been the return to the stage of E. H. Southern and Julia Marlowe, who will be seen at the Victory Theater, Dayton, three nights only, beginning Monday, March 8th. The repertoire will be Monday night, "Twelfth Night"; Tuesday, "Hamlet"; Wednesday, "Taming of the Shrew." There will be no matinees. The curtain will raise at 8 o'clock sharp at all performances. The modern stage decorations, which H. E. Southern and Julia Marlowe have provided for their plays this season mark an important advance in Shakespearean production in this country. It is said that the new scenery adds illusion, poetry and unusual atmosphere to the classics. Also it has a decided practical advantage inasmuch as it permits the elimination of waits between scenes, in this way giving swift movement to the action of the drama. The company consists of forty players.

REPORTER OVERHEARS DISSERTATION ON CITY TRAFFIC RULES

City Officials were felling the "prize boners" they have pulled in attempting to negotiate city traffic rules while driving an automobile in other cities following a recent meeting.

It all began when one of the officials told of driving through Dayton recently, trying to find a corner where there was no traffic cop, in order to negotiate a turn without getting caught up.

Mr. — was not up to the exact rules in wheeling around the corner, but after driving almost out of town he took a chance on a big officer at one corner. He had barely passed the traffic post when the cop shouted, but ignoring the cries of the officer he hurried on. He was stopped within a short distance, however, when the policeman drove up on the running board of another machine. By talking real nice, the local man managed to escape being called into court.

Another official had his flirtation with a traffic cop in Cincinnati, and the scene of his tragedy also laid at a street corner. The local man stood for a bawling out in the latest and most approved style and when the blue coat finished he asked politely what he should do. "Get out of the way!" replied the bull, and the City Commissioner did. The policeman had blocked traffic for three blocks while he was delivering his little lecture.

But the tale which took the prize follows:

Driving also in Cincinnati, and being an old hand at the wheel, the principal in the story was keeping a weather orb on the intersection. The traffic adjuster, however, was located on the sidewalk, and when the local man attempted to cross the street he was halted abruptly.

"Back up! Back up!" said the copper in his best parlor tone. And having backed the Xenian out of the trend of pedestrian traffic, he delivered a dissertation on bone-head in general and particular.

"Where are you from?" he said, finishing up.

"Xenia," was the reply.

"Oh, H—, that explains it," replied the officer. "Drive on."

"I could have chewed his head off," he said in telling the story.

SUFFERED TEN YEARS FROM INDIGESTION

Trouble Gone, Appetite Strong, and Eats Anything With-out Distress.

"I had a case of catarrh and indigestion, of ten years standing. I had been treated by the best medical men in Michigan. When I commenced taking Milk's Emulsion, I was in bed. I improved so fast that I kept the neighbors wondering. I am now up and working every day. My cough is gone. My appetite is great, and I can eat anything without hurting me."

—H. D. Loveless, Rockford, Mich.

Indigestion is seldom cured by "helping" the stomach digest food. Digestives, like physic pills, usually make slaves of the stomach and bowels.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physies. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. It produces remarkable results in colds, coughs and bronchial asthma.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Fire Department To Reorganize Into Platoon System

WITH the Fire Department but recently re-organized and with new and splendid equipment, the city is now facing the proposition of again re-organizing state two platoon system to comply with the new law, which provides that firemen be given as much time off duty as they are on duty.

In order to comply with this plan City Manager Kenyon Riddle, who acts as chief of the fire department, is now working on a plan to carry out the two platoon system here, which when worked out will not be any more expensive than under the present plan. The new system, according to the provisions of the law will be in force within ninety days and will provide that the men will be on duty twenty-four hours and then off for the same length of time.

With the new system in actual working order, Xenia can deservedly boast of one of the best equipped, up-to-date fire fighting forces in any city of this size in the state. The growth of the department in recent years has been rapid, despite the fact that the rejuvenation of the fire system here began only about a year ago. The order of things is a result of action taken during the regime of commission-manager form of government and is the direct result of the efforts of City Manager Riddle.

When the new form of government took charge of the city's affairs on January 1, 1918, the fire department, given but little attention in former years, was in a primitive state of advancement, although housed in a new station, built when the old house on Whiteman street was condemned for use.

In 1917 the chief of the fire department received $75 a month, and the four firemen used to man two houses were paid $60 a month, besides a number of "minute men" and substitute firemen, who were generally paid $10 a month. Under that system the monthly pay roll, for the department was $405 or $4,860 a year.

One of the initial acts of the administration in its rejuvenation program was the motorization of an old American-LaFrance horse drawn piece, which had not been used for years, because it weighed 5,500 pounds and was almost too heavy for horse work. The piece was mounted on a Republic truck chassis, and early experiments proved that the motor piece could cover the territory considerably quicker than the old horse drawn vehicles.

It was then that the administration

Xenia's firefighting equipment now rivals that of other cities by the recent purchase of a modern truck which appears in the foreground.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle, who is acting fire chief. Mr. Riddle has had charge of city affairs for over two years and has been active in developing the fire department.

abandoned the lower fire house, at Second and West streets, proving that the motor drawn piece could cover fires in all sections quicker than the horse drawn wagons from the lower house. The total cost of motorization of the first piece was $1,965 which was almost entirely covered by the sale of obsolete equipment, including the fire bell, team, wagons and harness.

The old Gamewell fire alarm system was also sold at this time, the city installing telephone call system for both police and fire, with a switch board at police headquarters. Now calls for both departments can be received over the same line, operation of the system is cheaper, and it has proved practical in cutting down the enormous number of false alarms that were beginning to prove an expensive proposition to the city.

After the abandonment of the lower house, the motor piece was used at the new house, going out on all calls accompanied by the long, heavy ladder wagon, which for years had responded to fire alarms in this city. The purchase of a new White triple combination piece however, spelled abandonment for horses all together. The new piece, is so efficiently equipped that unless on fire of especially dangerous proportions no other piece except it is needed.

The new truck carried 1,200 feet of standard hose, a 35-gallon chemical tank, and 200 feet of chemical hose, and ladders sufficient for use on any dwelling. It is also equipped with a booster pump, capable of throwing 600 gallons of water a minute at a pressure of 120 pounds, supplying four separate lines of hose. The piece cost $8,500 and the city will be able to pay the interest and motorize the entire debt in 10 years at a cost of $1,020 a year. This amount is practically the same as was paid out each year for horses and harness, so that the piece will be paid for without extra draft on the city's funds.

As compared with the $4,860 which was paid out annually under the old regime for fire department salaries, the city now pays $6,100, the captain receiving $105, two firemen $90 each, one fireman $80 and one relief fireman $40. Under the proposed salary increase, which will go into effect with

It is interesting to note that though the city acquired in 1918-19 a new Republic combination motor piece which has been paid for, a new White triple combination piece a 1,200 feet of hose at $10,000 which now being paid for and a more efficient force of men with a general salary increase of 50 per cent, still the expenses of the department are only $12 a month more.

This is the result of much scheming and planning, such as the change the fire alarm system the abandonment, renting of the lower engine house, motorizing of the department the abandonment of the old piece which provided for pipemen at a regular salary whether they worked or not, and other items of economy.

Had the salaries been increased per cent under the old plan with other changes the total cost of the fire department would be $6,734 $400 per year more than under the present plan and none of the improvements would have been realized.

Charles Mahanna, who took a position with the department as a regular fireman several years ago, was a man who received the promotion when a head of the department was needed and he was given the title and the power of Captain.

Around him, through his efforts and the efforts of City Manager Riddle, have been built an active and efficient fire fighting force, well able to handle the equipment provided the city, and to thus give this municipality the best possible fire protection.

Aaron Turner, veteran fire fighter, is the only member of the old fire fighting force here, who is a fireman. Fireman Turner is thoroughly experienced not only in the art of fighting fires but also as a leader and a judge of the extent of fires, tempers the ardor of the young members of the department and spite his years of experience is a valuable member of Xenia's fire fighting force.

From the hand power horse reel the old days, the Xenia Department has risen through all the stages of fire fighting systems, until it has arrived at the present, a thoroughly modernized and efficient organization.

The passing of the horse, heretofore throughout the commercial world with the advent of the automobile had its effect upon the fire department, and while the removal of the charging fire teams from the department may take considerable time, none who can deny that the institution of motor apparatus, has made up for the absence of sentiment with splendid efficiency.

gram through these merchants. T ing in automobile dealers all over t county, and banding together in organization with the purpose of bettering condition for the car owner. It was pointed out by Mr. William that the Automobile Association both state and county, have been instrumental in influencing proper legislation, encouraging good roads, a taking an active part in other proportions of benefit to the automobile owner.

Miss Maggie A. Doogan, aged 4 formerly a resident of Xenia, a daughter of the late George Doogan Sr., died Tuesday night at a Dayton hospital. Funeral services were held Thursday morning in Dayton.

The four months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Atkinson of Cincinnati, is recovering after serious attack of pneumonia.

the institution of two platoon system, the captain will receive $115, two firemen $100 each, one $80 and a relief fireman $40, or a total of $5,220. Considering that the department is one man short now, however, which place will be filled soon, the total yearly salaries will be $6,600.

The total cost of the fire department, with the present plan, which allows the men a 50 per cent increase in salaries over 1917, cost the city in 1919 the sum of $6,319 plus $1,442 balance due on the Republic truck or a total of $7,761. In 1917 the amount

Fire Department To Reorganize Into Platoon System

WITH the Fire Department but recently reorganized and with new and splendid equipment, the city is now facing the proposition of again re-organizing state two platoon system to comply with the new law, which provides that firemen be given as much time off duty as they are on duty.

In order to comply with this plan City Manager Kenyon Riddle, who acts as chief of the fire department, is now working on a plan to carry out the two platoon system here, which when worked out will not be any more expensive than under the present plan. The new system, according to the provisions of the law will be in force within ninety days and will provide that the men will be on duty twenty-four hours and then off for the same length of time.

With the new system in actual working order, Xenia has deservedly boast of one of the best equipped, up-to-date fire fighting forces in any city of this size in the state. The growth of the department in recent years has been rapid, despite the fact that the rejuvenation of the fire system here began only about a year ago. The order of things is a result of action taken during the regime of commission-manager form of government and is the direct result of the efforts of City Manager Riddle.

When the new form of government took charge of the city's affairs on January 1, 1918, the fire department, given but little attention in former years, was in a primitive state of advancement, although housed in a new station, built when the old house on Whiteman street was condemned for use.

In 1917 the chief of the fire department received $75 a month, and the four firemen used to man two houses were paid $60 a month, besides a number of "minute men" and substitute firemen, who were generally paid $10 a month. Under that system the monthly pay roll, for the department was $405 or $480 a year.

One of the initial acts of the administration in its rejuvenation program was the motorization of an old American-LaFrance horse drawn piece, which had not been used for years, because it weighed 5,500 pounds and was almost too heavy for horse work. The piece was mounted on a Republic truck chassis, and early experiments proved that the motor piece could cover the territory considerably quicker than the old horse drawn vehicles.

It was then that the administration

Xenia's firefighting equipment now rivals that of other cities by the recent purchase of a modern truck which appears in the foreground.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle, who is acting fire chief. Mr. Riddle has had charge of city affairs for over two years and has been active in developing the fire department.

abandoned the lower fire house, at Second and West streets, proving that the motor drawn piece could cover fires in all sections quicker than the horse drawn wagons from the lower house. The total cost of motorization of the first piece was $1,965 which was almost entirely covered by the sale of obsolete equipment, including the fire bell, team, wagons and harness. The old Gamewell fire alarm system was also sold at this time, the city installing telephone call system for both police and fire, with a switch board at police headquarters. Now calls for both departments can be received over the same line, operation of the system is cheaper, and it has proved practical in cutting down the enormous number of false alarms that were beginning to prove an expensive proposition to the city. After the abandonment of the lower house, the motor piece was used at the new house, going out on all calls accompanied by the long, heavy ladder wagon, which for years had responded to fire alarms in this city. The purchase of a new White triple combination piece however, spelled abandonment for horses all together. The new piece, is so efficiently equipped that unless on fire of especially dangerous proportions no other piece except it is needed.

The new truck carried 1,200 feet of standard hose, a 35-gallon chemical tank, and 200 feet of chemical hose, and ladders sufficient for use on any dwelling. It is also equipped with a booster pump, capable of throwing 600 gallons of water a minute at a pressure of 120 pounds, supplying four separate lines of hose. The piece cost $8,500 and the city will be able to pay the interest and motorize the entire debt in 10 years at a cost of $1,020 a year. This amount is practically the same as was paid out each year for horses and harness, so that the piece will be paid for without extra draft on the city's funds. As compared with the $4,860 which was paid out annually under the old regime for fire department salaries, the city now pays $6,100, the captain receiving $105, two firemen $90 each, one fireman $80 and one relief fireman $40. Under the proposed salary increase, which will go into effect with

It is interesting to note that though the city acquired in 1918-19 a new Republic combination motor piece which has been paid for, a White triple combination piece, a 1,200 feet of hose at $10,000 which now being paid for and a new efficient force of men with a general salary increase of 50 per cent, still the expenses of the department are only $12 a month more.

This is the result of much scheming and planning, such as the change in the fire alarm system the abandonment, renting of the lower engine house, motorizing of the department the abandonment of the old piece which provided for pipemen at a regular salary whether they worked or not, and other items of economy. Had the salaries been increased per cent under the old plan with other changes the total costs of the fire department would be $6,734 $400 per year more than under the present plan and none of the improvements would have been realized.

Charles Mahanna, who took a position with the department as a regular fireman several years ago, was a man, who received the promotion when a head of the department was needed and he was given the title and the power of Captain.

Around him, through his efforts, and the efforts of City Manager Riddle, have been built an active and efficient fire fighting force, well able to handle the equipment provided the city, and to thus give this municipality the best possible fire protection.

Aaron Turner, veteran fire fighter, is the only member of the old fighting force here, who is retained. Fireman Turner is thoroughly experienced not only in the art of fighting fires but also as a leader and a judge of the extent of fires, tempers the ardor of the young members of the department and in spite of his years of experience is a valuable member of Xenia's fighting force.

From the hand power horse reel the old days, the Xenia Department has risen through all the stages of fire fighting systems, until it has arrived at the present, a thoroughly modern equipped and efficient organization. The passing of the horse, herald throughout the commercial world with the advent of the automobile had its effect upon the fire department, and while the removal of charging fire teams from the department may take considerable of romance out of a fire run, there none who can deny that the institution of motor apparatus, has made up for the absence of sentiment with splendid efficiency.

The proposed organization of a Greene County Automobile Association to be affiliated with the Ohio State and National Associations, may be taken up here through the retail automobile dealers.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married about five months, but my wife and I have never lived together. She lives in a distant town. She used to care a great deal for me, but as days passed her letters came less often. I used to see her once a week, but now I see her about once in two or three weeks. The last time I went to see her we agreed to try to stay apart for a while. I have been very good to her and have given her anything she has asked for. I love her very much and I hate to think of giving her up. She said she is not sure how much she loves me. We are both very young.

Of course you should not have married so young. But since your wife did marry you, it is her place to see you as often as you want to go and to try to love you. In spite of what I have said about your wife's duty, I think it would be wiser for you to stay away from her. Work hard so that you will be in a position to take her if she wants to come to you. Do not write often. I believe in your case absence will make the heart grow fonder, and when she finds you are willingly staying away, she will want to see you.

Love at your age is apt to be full of sorrow. Keep a brave heart and take whatever comes with courage. Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of nineteen. I have a young gentleman friend who is twenty. He teaches in a high school away from home. I have been corresponding with him since September. He seems to think a great deal of me and sent me a very nice Christmas gift. He comes home about four times a year and he never comes to call on me. When he goes back to school after his vacation he writes me, telling me how sorry he is that he could not have seen me. But he doesn't make any excuses why he couldn't. What should I do? Should I keep on corresponding with him? I have known him three years and I like him very much. MISS BILLIE. Yes, keep on corresponding. Perhaps he is waiting for you to write him to come. The next time you expect him, say that you hope he will find time to come to see you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I cannot help answering "High Flutin' Sallie." In the first place I do not think any refined and self-respecting girl would sign a letter with such a name. In the second place, her theory is wrong. I have gone with a girl for several months and there has not been any promiscuous love-making. After several calls I decided that I would find out her views on the subject, so I tried a little of the "love stuff" (to use slang) and found we were of the same opinion. She said that with her it was the "right one" or no one at all. We have always parted with just a handshake. My relations with her have been the same as with my boy friends and it is a relief to know a broad-minded, deep-thinking girl like her after knowing so many girls that share "High Flutin' Sallie's" belief that a good time is promiscuous love-making.

"High Flutin' Sallie" says she can imagine what a man would be like who had such ideas as these I have just given expression to, yet she would never credit me with writing this letter even if she knew me. I am not "Pernified." I do not wear glasses and I am perfectly sane. To prove it I will say that I find it hard to keep from popping the question, but I am not in a position to marry yet. I appreciate your sincere expression of what you think of promiscuous love-making. There are other men like you in spite of "High Flutin' Sallie's" denial of the fact.

CLOSING SCENES OF I. W. W. TRIAL ARE ENACTED THURSDAY

Montesano, Wash., March 4.—Today heralds the closing scenes in the trial of ten alleged I. W. W. charged with the Centralia armistice day murders. The defense probably will complete its case. Attorneys for both sides believe that all direct testimony will be completed by the end of the week. Determined efforts will be made again by the defense attorney, George F. Vandever, to introduce evidence tending to show that Centralia business interests had plotted the elimination of the I. W. W. from that city. The ruling of Judge Wilson that the defense shall not introduce such evidence is based on his assertion that the defense has not shown sufficient evidence to date that Warren O. Grimm participated in an alleged raid on the I. W. W. hall. Despite this court order Vandever is endeavoring to force this testimony through in his examination of witnesses. His efforts will be blocked at every turn, the prosecution states.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married about five months, but my wife and I have never lived together. She lives in a distant town. She used to care a great deal for me, but as days passed her letters came less often. I used to see her once a week, but now I see her about once in two or three weeks. The last time I went to see her we agreed to try to stay apart for a while. I have been very good to her and have done and given her anything she has asked for. I love her very much and I hate to think of giving her up. She said she is not sure how much she loves me. We are both very young.

DOUBLE L.

Of course you should not have married so young. But since your wife did marry you, it is her place to see you as often as you want to go and to try to love you. In spite of what I have said about your wife's duty, I think it would be wiser for you to stay away from her. Work hard so that you will be in a position to take her if she wants to come to you. Do not write often. I believe in your case absence will make the heart grow fonder, and when she finds you are willingly staying away, she will want to see you.

Love at your age is apt to be full of sorrow. Keep a brave heart and take whatever comes with courage.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of nineteen. I have a young gentleman friend who is twenty. He teaches in a high school away from home. I have been corresponding with him since September. He seems to think a great deal of me and sent me a very nice Christmas gift. He comes home about four times a year and he never comes to call on me. When he goes back to school after his vacation he writes me, telling me how sorry he is that he could not have seen me. But he doesn't make any excuses why he couldn't. What should I do? Should I keep on corresponding with him? I have known him three years and I like him very much. MISS BILLIE.

Yes, keep on corresponding. Perhaps he is waiting for you to invite him to come. The next time you expect him, say that you hope he will find time to come to see you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I cannot help answering "High Flutin' Sallie." In the first place I do not think any refined and self-respecting girl would sign a letter with such a name. In the second place, her theory is wrong. I have gone with a girl for several months and there has not been any promiscuous love-making. After several calls I decided that I would find out her views on the subject, so I tried a little of the "love stuff" (to use slang) and found we were of the same opinion. She said that with her it was the "right one" or no one at all. We have always parted with just a handclasp. My relations with her have been the same as with my boy friends and it is a relief to know a broad-minded, deep-thinking girl like her. After knowing so many girls that share "High Flutin' Sallie's" belief that a good time is promiscuous love-making.

"High Flutin' Sallie" says she can imagine what a man would be like who had such ideas as these I have just given expression to, yet she would never credit me with writing this letter even if she knew me. I am not "Perfected." I do not wear glasses and I am perfectly sane. To prove it I will say that I find it hard to keep from popping the question, but I am not in a position to marry yet.

I appreciate your sincere expression of what you think of promiscuous love-making. There are other men like you in spite of "High Flutin' Sallie's" denial of the fact.

TITLES AND LOVE FEATURE "FLO-FLO"

An American heiress almost forced by a title-mad parent into a marriage with a nobleman she cannot love and a beautiful comet model are the center of the plot of "Flo-Flo," the musical comedy hit which John Cort is bringing to the opera house here next Saturday.

The show numbers among its attractions a notable cast of principals, a team of eccentric dancers and a "perky" chorus, known as the "only reads vaudeville. Blanche Sweet comedy chorus in the world. The com joy keeps women young and beautiful!

HARD work ages women. The daily house chores, often distasteful, are the telling destroyers.

Why don't you let Joy into your home to do the hard work? Joy, a cool, firm, white soap, goes after pots and pans, dishes and windows, bath tubs and floors, in such a hearty manner that they fairly bristle with brightness! And, my! how clean and sweet the laundry is after washing with Joy!

You never saw anything clean as easily and quickly. There's no scrubbing necessary—just rub a little and Joy disintegrates the dirt, grease and grime almost instantly.

And economical! Joy lasts longer, does the job in less time and better. It doesn't get soft and sticky when wet, either. It's just a plumb everlasting good household soap, working like a wizard all the time. You'll sure like it. Ask your grocer today.

CLOSING SCENES OF I. W. W. TRIAL ARE ENACTED THURSDAY

Montesano, Wash., March 4.—Today heralds the closing scenes in the trial of ten alleged I. W. W. charged with the Centralia armistice day murders. The defense probably will complete its case. Attorneys for both sides believe that all direct testimony will be completed by the end of the week.

Determined efforts will be made again by the defense attorney, George F. Vandever, to introduce evidence tending to show that Centralia business interests had plotted the elimination of the I. W. W. from that city. The ruling of Judge Wilson that the defense shall not introduce such evidence is based on his assertion that the defense has not shown sufficient evidence to date that Warren O. Grimm participated in an alleged raid on the I. W. W. hall. Despite this court order Vandever is endeavoring to force this testimony through in his examination of witnesses. His efforts will be blocked at every turn, the prosecution states.

DON'T SELL FIRST.

Cincinnati, March 4.—Mrs. Martha Rollins sold her home here without first arranging for a new one. As a result, she was forced to apply to the Children's home for shelter for her two boys one night recently.

PALMER TO FIRE OPENING GUN

Washington, March 4.—Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer will fire the opening gun in his campaign for the presidency in Georgia within a few days. Mr. Palmer stated today that his first speech will be delivered at Atlanta. Palmer declared he would not make any intensive state wide canvasses over the country, although he will enter many of the states prior to the primaries.

PATROLS ACTIVE.

Dublin, March 4.—British military patrols were active throughout the entire city all night. Constabulary and troops are making a vigorous search for the sack of mail addressed to the vicar, which was seized by masked men Wednesday morning, but it has not yet been found.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Cleveland, O., March 4.—Two children, Helen, 4, and Stanley, 2, were burned to death while their father Jacob Vinezkovski was helpless to save them, when fire swept their home early this morning. The father had carried an eleven months old baby to safety but was unable to return to the house for the others owing to the rapid spread of the flames.

The senior class play "The Rivals" has been changed and will now be presented on Monday and Tuesday nights March 8th and 9th.

The change was made in order not to conflict with the basketball tournament to be held at Yellow Springs on Friday and Saturday as the local team is entered and it was deemed advisable to make it possible for those who wish to attend both events.

The tickets will not be sold by the members of the class as is the usual custom but will go on sale at Sohn's Drug Store Saturday.

The production is rapidly rounding into shape and it is assured of success and will probably be one of the best class plays ever presented as it is much more difficult to produce than most plays and it ranks a close second to Shakespeare's works.

A number of musical specialties will be presented during the intermissions between acts and this will eliminate the usual long waits. The musical numbers have been arranged

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels.

Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

DON'T TREAT KIDNEYS ROUGH, WARNS DR. CAREY, SPECIALIST

Constant Flushing May Injure the Delicate Organism and Seldom Removes the Poisonous Deposits

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he generously warns people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention.

Back ache, for instance, puffiness under or specks floating before the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals.

"Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey, "and I feel upon retiring that I should tell all who even suspect kidney or bladder trouble about my prescription, Marshroot, which, during my active practice, has cured thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments."

This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name Dr. Carey's Marshroot, a name that every sufferer from kidney trouble should remember. Sayre & Hemphill can supply you.

Do You Walk ENOUGH!

Doctors say that the best "medicine" for that "wumpy" feeling is fresh air, more fresh air, sunshine, good wholesome food and exercise. They claim that most women do not walk enough. We think so, too.

One reason, we believe, is "high heels." No, we're not condemning them; simply advising that in addition to your high heeled shoes for dress you have a pair of these Cuban heeled Oxfords. They make walking a genuine pleasure; you can ramble far without fatigue.

High School Notes

The senior class play "The Rivals" has been changed and will now be presented on Monday and Tuesday nights March 8th and 9th.

The change was made in order not to conflict with the basketball tournament to be held at Yellow Springs on Friday and Saturday as the local team is entered and it was deemed advisable to make it possible for those who wish to attend both events.

The tickets will not be sold by the members of the class as is the usual custom but will go on sale at Sohn's Drug Store Saturday.

The production is rapidly rounding into shape and it is assured of success and will probably be one of the best class plays ever presented as it is much more difficult to produce than most plays and it ranks a close second to Shakespeare's works.

A number of musical specialties will be presented during the intermissions between acts and this will eliminate the usual long waits. The musical numbers have been arranged by Gladys Shadrach, a member of the class, and Miss Junk has been helping in the training of the singers so that these numbers should be high class.

CUPID IS ACTIVE DURING LEAP YEAR MONTH IN COUNTY

Although February was a short month, it led January in the number of marriage licenses issued, by nine.

Thirty three couples sought the marriage license desk in the probate court during February. In January there were twenty four pairs seeking the parchment that would permit them to join their lives.

In February of 1919, 26 licenses to wed were given out by the local probate court, while in January of that year only nine sought Hymenal bliss. Mars was undoubtedly responsible for this dearth in the number of those given licenses, the first month of 1919, while to St. Valentine may be given some of the credit for February making a good showing.

The following couples secured licenses during February:

Joseph Andrew Didge and Mary Jane Long, both of Xenia.

Roy Wesley Robinson, and Vernora Victoria White, both of Xenia.

Ira Coe Cassell and Edna Curtis, both of Yellow Springs.

Maurice Jack Silverman of Chicago, and Mildred Dorothy Hall, of Xenia.

Ellsworth Weaklin and Grace E. Thomas, of Xenia.

John S. DeLong, Dayton, and Anna Catherine Toms, Xenia.

Booker Ernest Hall and Henrietta Marie Gales, both of Xenia.

PORT WILLIAM TEAM NOSES OUT LOCALS BY SCORE OF 19-15

The Central High basketball five received two setbacks at the rink Wednesday night, the first team losing to Port William 19 to 14, and the second string outfit was nosed out by Beaver seconds, 18 to 12.

Both local teams made a disappointing showing and did not play the basketball that they are capable of. They were dead on their feet and acted as if chained to the floor, and also seemed short of wind as they played in spurts and dashes.

Neither team was able to score for several minutes, but Wood finally broke the ice by dropping one in. Taking a spurt the yellow jerseyed lads added three more before the locals woke up. Wood counted three more ringers from near the center of the floor and with some assistance from his teammates ran up the score to 17 points. Coach Fair's warriors were unable to locate the basket and it was not until late in the half that Kneese succeeded in dropping one in. The score stood 17 to 4 at the end of the half.

In the second half the locals started out much better and completely outplayed their opponents. They tightened up on the defense and permitted only a field goal, while a succession of baskets ran their total up near enough that of their opponents to enable them to overtake them, but the final punch was not forthcoming and a margin of four points remained when the whistle blew.

Wood was the mainstay of the Port lads, both in their floor work and in scoring, as he was high man. Haley and Atley also played well.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home. But it beats them all for quick results.

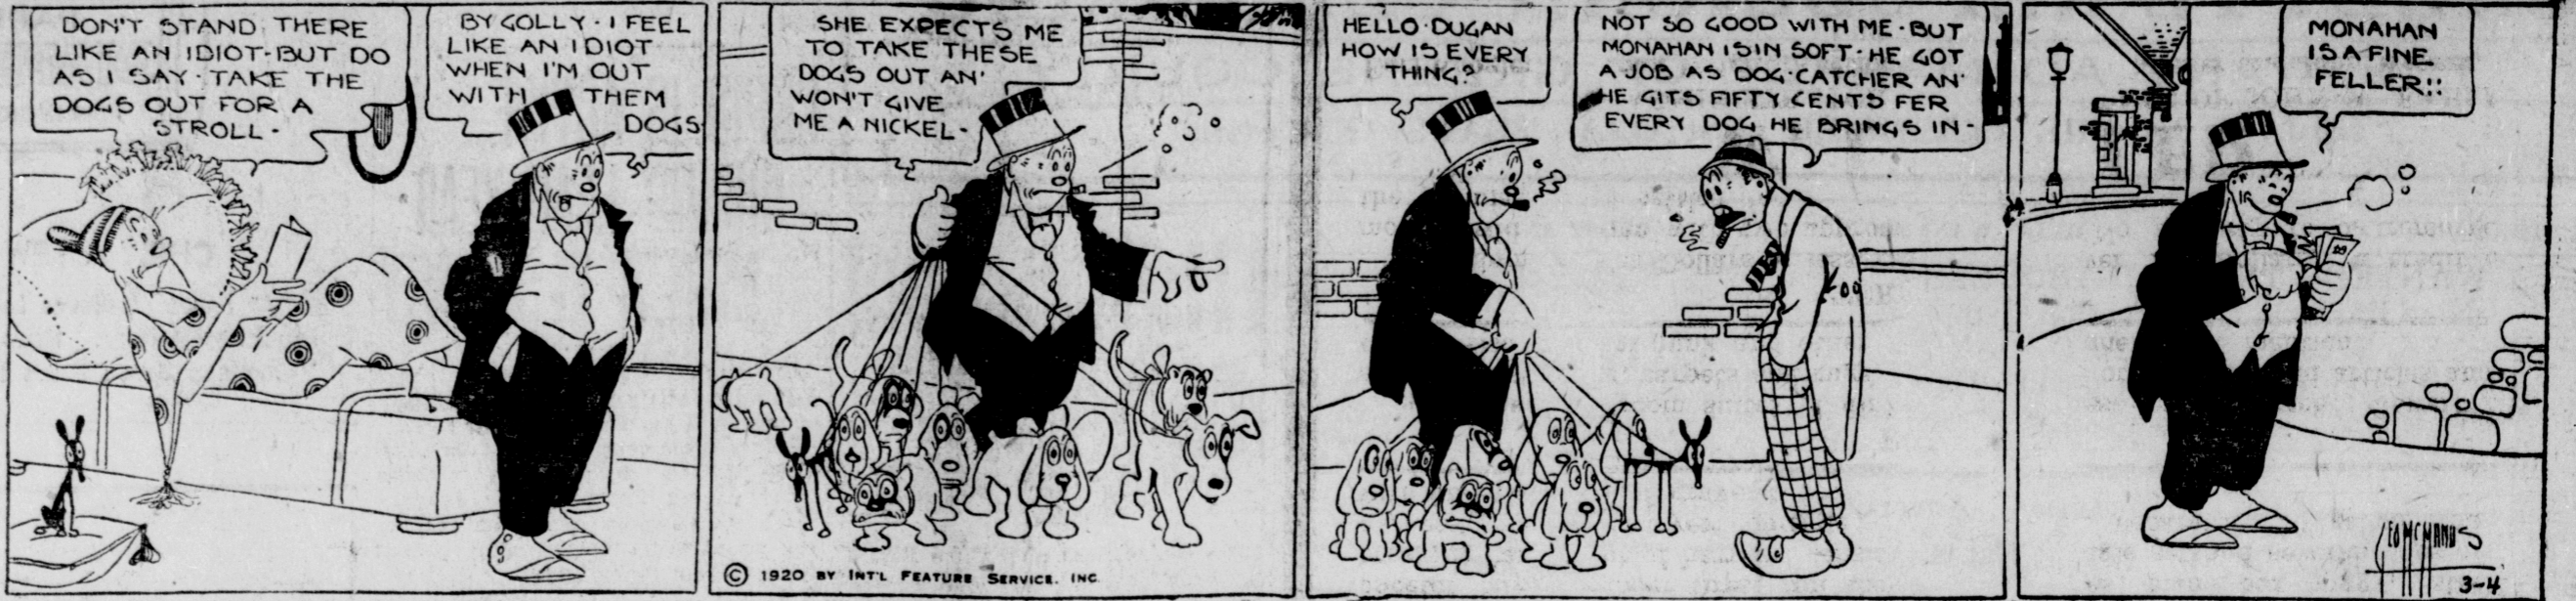

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is a simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. PEOPLE WE'D LIKE TO MEET

PASS EMERGENCY LIQUOR ORDINANCE

Mansfield, O., March 4.—At the last meeting of the city council, an emergency ordinance was passed to take care of people who manufacture intoxicating liquors, instead of turning them over to the federal authorities. Nick Koich and Mike Zgola, two Serbians were the first to be tried under the new ordinance. Each one pleaded guilty, Koich being fined $25 and Zgola $100. The council passed the ordinance so the money paid in fines may be returned to the homes.

Italian Chile—Cook one-half pound of macaroni in boiling water for fifteen minutes and then drain, blanch under cold running water and return to the saucepan. Place in the oven to keep warm. Now mince fine and place in a saucepan six large onions, one small can of pimentoes, one cup of the prepared gravy, one cup of stewed tomatoes or one-half cup tomato paste, two cups of boiling water, one teaspoon of chile powder.

Cook gently for ten minutes and then add the pot-roasted meat, cut in thin slices. Let heat for twenty minutes. To dish: Place macaroni on a hot platter and lift the meat on the macaroni and pour over the gravy. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley and serve.

Apple Custard—Place in a saucepan three cups of thin apple sauce, one cup of syrup, two-thirds cup of cornstarch.

Stir to thoroughly dissolve the starch and then bring to a boil. Cook slowly for ten minutes and then remove from the fire and add one teaspoon of vanilla, one-half teaspoon of nutmeg.

Beat to a blend and then rinse the custard cups with cold water and fill with the custard. Chill. Unmold and serve with vanilla sauce.

Union Soap—Place in a saucepan one cup of thinly sliced onions, one carrot chopped fine, one faggot of soup herbs, six cups of water. Bring to a boil and simmer slowly until the vegetables are very soft, then put through a fine sieve, rubbing the vegetables into a fine pulp.

Return to the saucepan and add one bouillon cube, one teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of white pepper, two teaspoons of finely chopped parsley. Serve hot.

Eminec of Mutton With Creole Sauce—Mince the left-over mutton fine and then add one cup of sliced onions and one green pepper.

Place in a saucepan and add three tablespoons of flour. Toss well to distribute the flour and then add one and one-half cups of strained tomato juice, one-quarter teaspoon of thyme, four tablespoons of finely minced parsley and one tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce.

Cook slowly for three-quarters of an hour and then place a piece of toast for each person on a hot platter. Lift on the eminec and cover with creole sauce. Garnish with finely minced parsley.

TWO WAYS TO SERVE HAM

Ham Turnovers—Roll mixture used for baking powder biscuit to a quarter inch thickness; cut into six inch squares. Put in the middle of each a large tablespoon of minced ham, well seasoned and moistened with gravy. Fold the paste into a triangle, enfolding the meat. Press the edges together with a fork dipped in the flour. Bake in a moderate oven. Serve hot or cold.

Stuffed Ham Roll—Slice of ham one-fourth inch thick, cut from center of ham; two cups moistened bread crumbs; one cup tomato juice. Spread bread crumbs over ham; sprinkle minced parsley over crumbs. Roll up and tie. Pour over tomato juice, adding a little hot water. Place in baking pan, basting occasionally during the two hours required for baking.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED---AND EARNED

BY JANE PHELPS

A MODERN STORY OF HOME AND BUSINESS

THE RESULT CHAPTER 68

At first I was angry, then a bit frightened that Robert had gone out. Then, too, I hated to have anyone see him when he showed the effects or drink in any way. It was seldom he indulged—usually only when he had been out of work and had been to the pool rooms.

Finally my common sense came to my aid, and I sat down with a book to wait. But as hours after hours passed and he did not come I became nervous to read, and constantly started, listening, whenever the front door opened or closed.

A boarding house is terribly annoying when one is waiting for someone to come in. The constant opening and closing of doors, the tread on the stairs, awakens hope only to have it dashed away when the steps go on and do not stop at your door.

It was only a little after 6 when I came up from dinner, not quite half past. When the clock struck 9 then 10 then 11, and no sign of Robert, I threw my book down and stood in the window peering out. We were so high it was almost impossible to see anyone near the house on the same side of the street, but I could see the corner each way, as the house was about in the center of the block.

Half past 11, then 12 chimed out from a clock in a neighboring church tower, and still he had not come.

I prepared slowly for bed. Why hadn't I remained upstairs with him, or proposed that we both go out to dinner? He had taken a dislike to the boarding house because he had been drinking—an active dislike. Of course he never had been enthusiastic over living there, but he had not acted like this before. Naturally, I laid it all to his drinking.

When I was all ready I slipped on a kimono, and put out the lights so I could see the street more plainly. Then I sat by the window to wait for him.

Just as the clock struck one I saw him turn the corner. He was really under the influence of liquor now—that I could see plainly altho so far away, I quickly slipped off my mules and put on my slippers, and threw a dark cloak over my kimono. Then as quietly as possible I hurried downstairs and out to meet him. I left the door ajar so we would not disturb anyone when we came in.

"Shwat you doing—here?" he stammered as I took his arm.

"I came to meet you. Arent you glad?"

"Guess Sro, Shwat time is—ish it late?"

"One o'clock."

"Gee!"

By this time we were at the steps I half led, half dragged him into the hall. And up those three long flights of stairs. Never had stairs seemed so long. Robert kept begging me to stop and rest, but I hurried him on, fearful that at any minute some door would open and a head be poked out to see who was coming in at that hour.

I breathed a sigh of relief when at last I had him in our own room. At least we were now safe from prying eyes.

Robert flopped down on the couch and without saying a word fell sound asleep. I hadn't enough experience with people in this condition to know that the very best thing I could do for him, and myself too, was to let him sleep. So I tugged at him until he sat up and then I helped him get his clothes off. By this time he was awake, and I could not repress a question:

"What made you go out, Robert? See, I brought your dinner up. Shall I heat the coffee for you?"

"No, I told you I wouldn't eat anything more of this damned boarding house, and I meant it. You thought I was fooling, but I wasn't."

"Well, come to bed. We'll talk about it in the morning. I had heard it was wise to humor a man in his condition."

"We'll talk it right now. You got to choose—it's me or this boarding house," he waved his arms about uncertainly. "You hear me, you've got to choose!"

"His voice trailed off sleepily, and I helped him into bed."

But all night long I sat by the window thinking, wondering, trying to see into the heart of things. When morning broke gray and depressing it was no grayer than my spirit as I dressed for the day before waking Robert.

PORT WILLIAM TEAM NOSES OUT LOCALS BY SCORE OF 19-15

The Central High basketball lives received two setbacks at this rink Wednesday night, the first team losing to Port William 19 to 14, and the second string outfit was nosed out by Beaver seconds, 18 to 12.

Both local teams made a disappointing showing and did not play the basketball that they are capable of. They were dead on their feet and acted as if chained to the floor, and also seemed short of wind as they played in spurts and dashes.

Neither team was able to score for several minutes, but Wood finally broke the ice by dropping one in. Taking a spurt the yellow jerseyed lads added three more before the locals woke up. Wood counted three more ringers from near the center of the floor and with some assistance from his teammates ran up the score to 17 points. Coach Faires' warriors were unable to locate the basket and it was not until late in the half that Kneese succeeded in dropping one in. The score stood 17 to 4 at the end of the half.

In the second half the locals started out much better and completely outplayed their opponents. They tightened up on the defense and permitted only a field goal, while a succession of baskets ran their total up near enough that of their opponents to enable them to overtake them, but the final punch was not forthcoming and a margin of four points remained when the whistle blew.

Wood was the mainstay of the Port lads, both in their floor work and in scoring, as he was high man. Haley and Atley also played well.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home. But it beats them all for quick results.

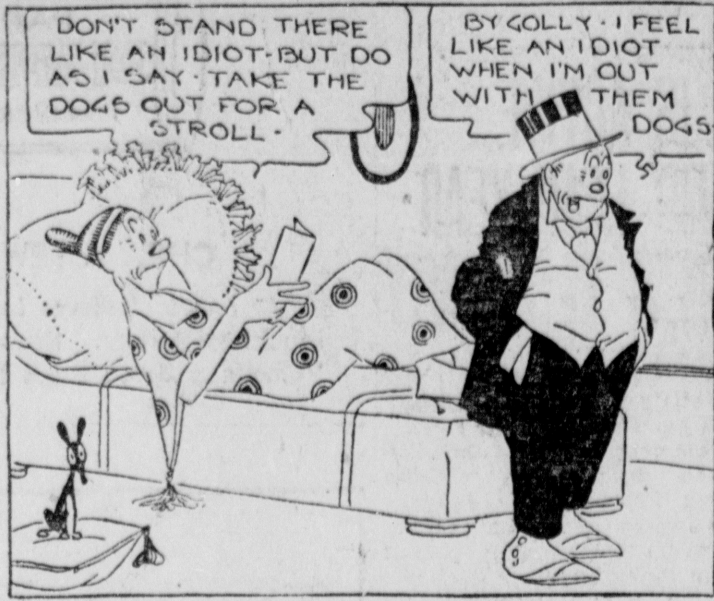

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. Italian Chile — Cook one-half pound of macaroni in boiling water for fifteen minutes and then drain. Blanch under cold running water and return to the saucepan. Place in the oven to keep warm. Now mince fine and place in a saucepan six large onions, one small can of pimentoes, one cup of the prepared gravy, one cup of stewed tomatoes or one-half cup tomato paste, two cups of boiling water, one teaspoon of chile powder.

Cook gently for ten minutes and then add the pot-roasted meat, cut in thin slices. Let heat for twenty minutes. To dish: Place macaroni on a hot platter and lift the meat on the macaroni and pour over the gravy. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley and serve.

Apple Custard—Place in a saucepan three cups of thin apple sauce, one cup of syrup, two-thirds cup of cornstarch.

Stir to thoroughly dissolve the starch, and then bring to a boil. Cook slowly for ten minutes and then remove from the fire and add one teaspoon of vanilla, one-half teaspoon of nutmeg.

Beat to a blend and then rinse the custard cups with cold water and fill with the custard. Chill. Unmold and serve with vanilla sauce.

Onion Soup—Place in a saucepan one cup of thinly sliced onions, one carrot chopped fine, one faggot of soup herbs, six cups of water.

Bring to a boil and simmer slowly until the vegetables are very soft, then put through a fine sieve, rubbing the vegetables into a fine pulp. Return to the saucepan and add one bouillon cube, one teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of white pepper, two teaspoons of finely chopped parsley. Serve hot.

Emince of Mutton With Creole Sauce—Mince the left-over mutton fine and then add one cup of sliced onions and one green pepper.

Place in a saucepan and add three tablespoons of flour. Toss well to distribute the flour and then add one and one-half cups of strained tomato juice, one-quarter teaspoon of thyme, four tablespoons of finely minced parsley and one tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce.

Cook slowly for three-quarters of an hour and then place a piece of toast for each person on a hot platter. Lift on the emince and cover with creole sauce. Garnish with finely minced parsley.

TWO WAYS TO SERVE HAM

Ham Turnovers — Roll mixture used for baking powder biscuit to a quarter inch thickness; cut into six-inch squares. Put in the middle of each a large tablespoon of minced ham, well seasoned and moistened with gravy. Fold the paste into a triangle, enfolding the meat. Press the edges together with a fork dipped in the flour. Bake in a moderate oven. Serve hot or cold.

Stuffed Ham Roll—Slice of ham one-fourth inch thick, cut from center of ham; two cups moistened bread crumbs; one tablespoon minced parsley; one cup tomato juice. Spread minced parsley over crumbs. Roll up and tie. Pour over tomato juice, adding a little hot water. Place in baking pan, basting occasionally during the two hours required for baking.

A MODERN STORY OF HOME AND BUSINESS

At first I was angry, then a bit frightened that Robert had gone out. Then, too, I hated to have anyone see him when he showed the effects or drink in any way. It was seldom he indulged—usually only when he had been out of work and had been to the pool rooms.

Finally my common sense came to my aid, and I sat down with a book to wait. But as hours after hours passed and he did not come I became nervous to read, and constantly started, listening, whenever the front door opened or closed.

A boarding house is terribly annoying when one is waiting for some one to come in. The constant opening and closing of doors, the tread on the stairs, wakens hope only to have it dashed away when the steps go on and do not stop at your door.

It was only a little after 6 when I came up from dinner, not quite half past. When the clock struck 9 then 10 then 11, and no sign of Robert, I threw my book down and stood in the window peering out. We were so high it was almost impossible to see anyone near the house on the same side of the street, but I could see the corner each way, as the house was about in the center of the block.

Half past 11, then 12 chimed out from a clock in a neighboring church tower, and still he had not come. I prepared slowly for bed. Why hadn't I remained upstairs with him, or proposed that we both go out to dinner? He had taken a dislike to the boarding house because he had been drinking—an active dislike. Of course he never had been enthusiastic over living there, but he had not acted like this before. Naturally, I laid it all to his drinking.

When I was all ready I slipped on a kimona, and put out the lights so I could see the street more plainly. Then I sat by the window to wait for him.

Just as the clock struck one I saw him turn the corner. He was really under the influence of liquor now—that I could see plainly altho so far away, I quickly slipped off my mules and put on my slippers, and threw a dark cloak over my kimona. Then as quietly as possible I hurried downstairs and out to meet him. I left the door ajar so we would not disturb anyone when we came in.

"Shwat you doing—out—here?" he stammered as I took his arm.

"I came to meet you. Arent you glad?"

"Guess Sro, Shwat time is—is it late?"

"One o'clock."

"Gee!"

By this time we were at the steps I half led, half dragged him into the hall. And up those three long flights of stairs. Never had stairs seemed so long. Robert kept begging me to stop and rest, but I hurried him on, fearful that at any minute some door would open and a head be poked out to see who was coming in at that hour.

I breathed a sigh of relief when at last I had him in our own room. At least we were now safe from prying eyes.

Robert flopped down on the couch and without saying a word fell sound asleep. I hadn't enough experience with people in this condition to know that the very best thing I could do for him, and myself too, was to let him sleep. So I tucked at him until he sat up and then I helped him get his clothes off. By this time he was awake, and I could not repress a question:

"What made you go out, Robert? See, I brought your dinner up. Shall I heat the coffee for you?"

"No, I told you I wouldn't eat anything more in this damned boarding house, and I meant it. You thought I was fooling, but I wasn't."

"Well, come to bed. We'll talk about it in the morning." I had heard it was wise to humor a man in his condition.

"We'll talk it right now. You got to choose—it's me or this boarding house," he waved his arms about uncertainly. "You hear me, you've got to choose!" His voice trailed off sleepily, and I helped him into bed.

But all night long I sat by the window, wondering, trying to see into the heart of things. When morning broke gray and depressing it was no grayer than my spirit as I dressed for the day before waking Robert.
